Ulster Legislation May Be Passed By British Parliament

Lloyd George Says Present Position of Northern Irish
Parliament Intolerable and Developments or Bill Must Come.

London, Oct. 31.—Possible legislation to put the Ulster Parliament in a better position was indicated by Premier Lloyd George to-day in the House of Commons in answering critics in the debate on the Unionist motion intended as a censure of the Government's Irish policy.

As to the Irish negotiations, the Prime Minister assured the House that no agreement was possible without the sanction of the Imperial Parliament.

The Premier said the position of the Ulster Parliament was intolerable and unless something happened in the next few days to put the position right under the Government of Ireland Act, a short bill would be introduced to remedy the position.

Mr. Lloyd George said he had received guarantees that no arms would be imported into Ireland during the truce.

A Possibility.
"I can not conceal from the House," said the Premier in alluding to the effort to settle the Ulster question, "the possibility that I may have to make the grim announcement that it is impossible to settle without danger and dishonor."

He said that if the conference broke down the first thing the Government would have to do would be to ask the House considerably to strengthen the forces of the crown.

Great Interest.
Mr. Lloyd George said he had received guarantees that no arms would be imported into Ireland during the truce.

FLOOD THREATENED
CITY WATERWORKS

Ten-inch Rain Cracks Pipe Joints

Engineer Rushes to Sooke Through Torrents

Victoria's Sooke Lake waterworks system was threatened with serious damage, and perhaps partial destruction by torrents of water which overflowed the Sooke Lake dam, carrying logs heading down the Sooke River and cracked joints in the pipe line which supplies the city with water.

The water reached its maximum height late Friday night but it has subsided now and all danger is past. Fortunately, the recent heavy rains ceased over the week-end before very serious damage occurred.

These facts were made known at the City Hall to-day when City Engineer F. M. Preston returned to his desk after a daring rush trip to Sooke Lake Saturday over almost impassable roads and in places, through water which threatened to stall the car's engine.

A Fortunate Escape.
"Everything is all right now, but for a time we didn't know what might happen," Mr. Preston told The Times. "Fortunately the water has subsided, following the cessation of the heavy rains and the damage, as it turned out, is not serious. The main pipe line, at a point below the dam, has been moved, but this can be fixed at small cost."

Sooke Lake commenced to rise rapidly late Thursday. William Campbell, caretaker of the city's Sooke Lake waterworks, stated over the long distance telephone to-day. No less than 9.36 inches of rain fell in two days and by Friday night three and one half feet of water were rushing over the spillway dam at the south end of the lake. When rising water carried away a portion of the pipe line some years ago only two and one half feet of water ran over the dam.

Mr. Campbell patrolled the pipe line until three o'clock Saturday morning expecting the torrents to carry away portions of the pipe at any moment. It was quite impossible, of course, to cope with the torrents. At the point where the pipe line was carried away some years back, a retaining wall, built to prevent a recurrence of this accident, withstood the water. Lower down, about two hundred yards below the dam, the water rushed over the river banks and cracked joints in the flow pipe. These joints are leaking now but the pipe is still carrying water to Humphreys Reservoir.

Worst Rain Known.
"It was the worst rain I have ever seen out here," Mr. Campbell declared. "Friday night 100,000,000 gallons of water were going over the dam and into the river. The water was three and a half feet deep on the top of the dam. The highest it ever was before was two and one half feet."

As soon as he was informed of conditions at the waterworks Mr. Preston started for Sooke Lake. Supposing that the road through the mountains to the lake would be impassable he took the Fitzgerald route. In many places progress was almost impossible. At several points bridges over creeks were under water and Mr. Preston had to walk ahead of his car and see if the bridges had been washed away. He crossed several bridges without seeing them under the water and the water almost reached the car's engine.

RAILWAY BALANCE OF HALF MILLION

Canadian National Operated Successfully in September

Gains of Previous Month Were Enlarged

Ground for Optimism, Says
Mr. Hanna

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Announcement is made from National Railway headquarters here that the gross earnings of the system in September were more than sufficient to cover the expenses of operation, the margin to the good being slightly more than half a million dollars, or ten times greater than the August margin.

The figures show gross earnings, $11,500,125.12; working expenses, $10,995,951.37; net earnings, $504,174.75.

Discussing the improved situation, D. B. Hanna, the president, said: "The statement relates to the operation of the Intercolonial, the National Transcontinental, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern Railway, in all about 17,000 miles of railway. The statement merely confirms what I said recently that the situation of the Canadian National should not be regarded from too gloomy a viewpoint."

Mr. Hanna had words of praise for the employees all over the system, who, he declared, were working loyally for good of the service.

URGENT NEED OF NEW SOOKE BRIDGE

Industries Suffer as Result of Serious Washout

Public Works Department Engineers made an examination of the damaged bridge, and Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, announced this afternoon that the bridge would be replaced immediately.

Inhabitants of the entire settlement of Sooke Harbor, Otter Point and Jordan River, cut off from Victoria by road through the washout early Saturday morning of the Sooke River bridge, met Saturday night to discuss the serious situation, and it was decided to have delegation wait upon the Government to-day to point out the extreme urgency of immediately building a new bridge, as every industry in these districts would be crippled until such time as a new bridge was built.

The disaster of Saturday constitutes the fourth bridge over the Sooke River which has been lost during the thirty years.

The following is a report of the proceedings at Saturday's meeting at Sooke received from The Times's correspondent to-day:

So serious is the situation that it was not long before the residents of these districts realized that immediate action must be taken, and Charles H. Harbour, who lives at the foot of the bridge crossing, placed his house at the disposal of R. J. Hugford and H. Vogel who posted notices for a public meeting at 7 p. m. and got by telephone, notifying the Otter Point and Jordan River districts.

Although the notification of this public gathering was but a few hours the large room at Mr. Harbour's house was packed every section of the country so shut off being strongly represented. Upon Mr. Vogel taking the chair, to which he was unanimously elected, he explained that the reason for an emergency meeting was to consider concerted action in relation to the serious matter of the loss of the bridge across the Sooke River and asked Edward Milne, the post foreman, if any of the government officials had been out since the bridge went out at 1 a. m. Mr. Milne replied that no officials had been out and gave as an explanation that there were other places besides Sooke where there was trouble through the floods.

Mr. Vogel replied that while this statement might be correct yet the district as a whole was one of the most neglected on the Island and it was up to the people to move in the matter. He therefore felt that no people would work better for the reconstruction work than the local people who were vitally affected by the loss of this bridge. The residents of the district were fortunate in having amongst them thoroughly practical men in bridge construction. P. Grainger had come forward with one or two valuable suggestions to the meeting for the construction of a temporary bridge or a ferry service for the automobiles and heavy freight and within a very short space of time daily connections could be made with Victoria. It was for the meeting to consider a definite line of action as to the cheapest, best and most serviceable method and then to get into (Continued on page 15.)

Edmonton, Oct. 31.—What is asserted to be a world's record for land transmission of wireless telephony was achieved at Edmonton Saturday night, when a concert programme being sent out by wireless from San Francisco was picked up and distinctly recorded. The two points are more than 1,400 miles apart. The feat was accomplished by W. W. Grant, wireless engineer for the Canadian Government, and others present when the demonstration was made.

Mr. Grant was engaged at the time in making tests here, where it is proposed to establish a wireless service connecting up the Port Norman oil fields and other advanced posts in the north country. It is considered that such a service would be of the greatest value during the process of opening up the resources of the North.

Songs and instrumental music were distinctly heard by the listeners in Edmonton, as were some news items spoken by the chairman.

The station here where the tests were made is located on a high bank on the south side of the Saskatchewan River and is of great natural value for wireless purposes.

Bodies Recovered at Britannia and Relief Organized

Fourteen Bodies Out Of Known Total of Thirty-Six Found; Men Working In Ruins of Town; Subscriptions In Vancouver For Needy.

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press)—Fourteen bodies out of a known death list of thirty-six had been recovered at Britannia Beach, the scene of Friday night's flood, up to noon to-day. The work of searching for bodies was pushed steadily forward to-day, and although a heavy rain is causing a considerable rise in the water, the workers are making good progress in uncovering wreckage. It is expected new relief gangs will be sent over from Mill Creek, near here, this afternoon to replace men who have been working almost incessantly since Saturday.

A revised list of the disaster victims follows:
Bodies so far recovered: William Lonon, F. O. Downing, J. Emmett, Carl Nelson, Mrs. A. Nelson, Mrs. H. Hawkins, Marion Braidwood, Margaret Primrose, Mrs. W. Dion and child, Mrs. C. F. Crippen and two children, infant child of Mrs. Whitcomb.

Missing, feared dead: Gordon Lowe, R. Clarke, A. Mitchell, Mrs. Hazegaga, Mrs. H. Luxmore, Mrs. J. Godin and one child, Mrs. J. Braidwood and one child, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Farrington and two children, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson and three children, O. Fiva, wife and two children.

Coroner Jeffs will hold an inquest on the bodies at the city morgue at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

A relief fund for those families who have lost all their worldly possessions will be commenced from several sources. The Vancouver Board of Trade has already a movement on foot in this connection and a meeting will be called for to-day to consider it. A fund will be started by the press and it is believed that within a few days sufficient money will be on hand to allow each family enough to care for their wants for the next month at least.

Although the big store of the company has been thrown open to the destitute residents of the Beach there is much need of clothing.

The British Columbia Government has so far not been asked to send aid to the victims of Britannia Beach. Britannia Beach is a closed town where everything is controlled by the Britannia Mines Co., it was explained at the Parliament Buildings to-day. The company is looking after all the relief work and has not yet found it necessary to look to the Government.

"You may be sure we will call for any needed help," E. J. Donohue, manager for the Britannia Mines Co., telegraphed in reply to a telegram sent Saturday by G. S. Hanes, member for North Vancouver, whose riding stretches up to Britannia Beach. "Doing our best to recover bodies. Probably thirty-five dead."

Vanderbilt Telegraphs.
Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., who has just arrived at his New York home after spending the Summer at his island estate in Sprat Lake, Vancouver Island, telegraphed Premier Oliver expressing his sympathy over the disaster on the lower Mainland resulting from the floods. Premier Oliver replied on behalf of the Province expressing appreciation of Mr. Vanderbilt's interest.

Protect Squamish.
As soon as he learned of the situation at Squamish, the Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, at once took steps to protect the houses on the low area near the mouth of the river, which were threatened by flooding in through the dykes which broke Saturday. Men from the Public Works Department were to-day repairing the dykes.

Premier Oliver this afternoon was notified that Squamish is safe, and has not met with any serious damage.

Special Police on Job.
The Premier also received word this afternoon that the exact number of dead at Britannia is not yet known.

Six gangs of men, each under a foreman, all of whom have been sworn in as constables, are at work at Britannia under Constable North, senior police officer, the Premier said. Anything valuable found is being deposited in the safe of the mining company.

Making Best of It All.
Four more bodies were discovered yesterday, two being little girls and two men, the Premier was informed to-day. The bodies were sent to Vancouver.

The mining company, the Premier says, is making everything as comfortable as possible for the sufferers. The Government agent arrived at the town to-day.

Premier Oliver was also informed by telegram to-day that the water supply of New Westminster has been cut off, and the water service restricted to two hours a day until repairs can be made in the pipe line.

NORTH DAKOTA GOVERNOR RECALLED

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 31.—For the first time in the history of the United States, a state Governor and two other officials have been recalled in an election.

This was accomplished in the recall of three state officials of North Dakota in the election of last Friday. Descent of the Non-Partisan League officials in admitted, final returns from 1,796 precincts out of 2,686 in the state giving R. T. Nestos, Independent candidate for Governor, 105, 132 votes and Governor Lynn J. Frazier, who has been chief executive of the state for the last five years with Non-Partisan endorsement, 94,066, a lead of 11,128 for Nestos.

S. Johnson and J. A. Kitchen hold corresponding leads respectively over Attorney-General William Lemke and J. N. Hagan, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, the other two officials whose recall was demanded. "The Independent victory is not so sweeping that it can be counted upon as permanent, however."

Returns on the proposed constitutional amendments and the initiative laws were not tabulated as promptly as those of the candidates, but the prediction in both Independent and Non-Partisan camps was that they would run behind the candidates, but in the same ratio. All the amendments and laws were endorsed by the Independents and uniformly opposed by the League. They have to do with changes in the election laws and provide for the liquidation of the Bank of North Dakota, a state-owned institution started by the Non-Partisan League.

No Statement.

A. C. Townley, president of the National Non-Partisan League, was here yesterday in conference with some Leagueurs but he refused to discuss the outcome of the election or to say what effect the death of the League in this, its birth state, would have on plans of the organization in other states.

Defeat of the League officials in the election marks the second severe blow dealt that organization within a week.

Its leader, Townley, is about to go to Jackson County jail to begin a ninety-day sentence for violation of the Minnesota sedition laws. He was convicted in Jackson County, Minn., of making remarks tending to hamper enlistments during the war.

Later Figures.

Fargo, M.D., Oct. 31.—Returns from 29 additional precincts to-day made a further cut in the majority of B. A. Nestos, Independent gubernatorial candidate in Friday's recall election. In 1,857 out of 2,086 precincts in the state, Nestos received 106,976, and Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Non-Partisan, 98,151.

MR. KING URGES VOTERS TO UNITE

Calls for Concerted Attack on Meighen Government

Bolton, Ont., Oct. 30.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—"Organized greed" was what had kept Mr. Meighen at the head of affairs for the last sixteen months in the absence of any authority from the people of Canada, said Hon. Mackenzie King in a speech here Saturday afternoon. It would have been impossible for Premier Meighen to have carried on without some powerful influence behind him, said Mr. King. Disclosures which had resulted from the activities of the Board of Commerce had proved that business firms, with the connivance of the authorities, were bleeding the people to the tune of millions of dollars, he said. But, said the Liberal Leader, when the Board of Commerce would have brought these multi-millionaires to task, the members of the government gently but firmly restrained them.

"Big interests," said Mr. King, "have been the invisible support of the Government of Canada. And it is absolutely necessary that all who are in favor of government by the people and for the people should unite to overthrow their common enemy."

Farmers and Liberals.

Once again Mr. King assured his hearers that there was no essential difference between the aims of the farmers and those of the Liberals. That which would benefit the agricultural interests throughout the country must, inevitably redound to the benefit of the dwellers of the towns and cities. It was well to remember that the Conservatives were infinitely pleased to have farmer candidates placed in the field. More votes for the third party might mean a victory for the Liberals, and it would be a sorry result if Mr. Meighen, were again returned to power because the friends of progress and self-government were divided among themselves.

WOULD INCREASE FARM POPULATION

Mr. Crerar Delivered Speech in Sydney, N. S.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, met coal miners and steel workers of Cape Breton at a meeting here Saturday night, and while he condemned the principle of protection in fiscal policy and claimed that protection had fostered combines he denied that he was a free trader.

"I have been described as a free trader," he said, "I am not a free trader. I am opposed to the principle of protection in fiscal policy, but I recognize that we have had industries built up under a system of protection and if that protection were swept away overnight these industries would have difficulty in readjusting themselves."

He argued that agriculture was the basic industry of Canada. If agriculture was paralyzed "grass would grow in the streets of your cities." Free agricultural implements would give a greater stimulus to agriculture. "If you can increase the farming population, what results? They use more agricultural implements. To make these implements there is a bigger demand for steel and greater employment of labor."

He contended that agricultural implements could be made profitably in Canada without protection and as in early speeches, pointed to the Canadian-made cream separator as a case in point.

Cabinet Representation.

When replying to charges that Progressives represented a class, Mr. Crerar observed that there was no representative of agriculture in Meighen Cabinet and that the only representative of Labor was a member of the senate.

"And I am reminded," commented Mr. Crerar, "that the first plank of the Labor Party is abolition of the senate. That being the case, I am at a loss to see how Senator Robertson can properly represent labor in the Government of Canada."

"I have as much right," Mr. Crerar added, "to accuse Mr. Meighen of being at the head of a class Government as he has to accuse me of being at the head of a class movement."

SAYS PRAIRIE VOTERS TO DECIDE

Meighen Answers Letter About Grain Board

Hamilton, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Premier Meighen received a letter here from the Grain Growers' Association of Saskatchewan, Saskatchewan, enclosing an appeal for the re-establishment of the Canadian Wheat Board, which is being circulated throughout the prairie provinces. The letter stated that the voluntary pool for handling grain proposed by the Premier in his Prairie Provinces speech "will be totally inadequate to cope with the situation," that the man at the head of the Board should be "armed with dictatorial powers," and that "the crisis facing the country is ample warrant for the creation of such a virtual dictatorship."

In his reply Mr. Meighen declared: "I have made a definite and concrete proposal for the handling of the grain business." He asked whether Hon. Mackenzie King or Hon. T. A. Crerar had made proposals and what they were. "My policy is before the people and it is for them to accept it or reject it," he said in closing.

Reconstruction.

The prairie letter, signed by E. A. Partridge for the "Wheat Board Committee," said: "The re-establishment of the Wheat Board with ample powers of price control would be a fitting introduction into the work of reconstruction which, despite all rumor to the contrary, is not getting anywhere and cannot until there is re-established the proper relations between costs and prices, between prices and values, between prices of the various commodities of common use and need, between the cost of living, and the general ability to meet it by a reasonable expenditure of effort, and that without a too slavish dependence on the will of some lordly fellow-workers."

There is, too, much generalization, too great an unbosoming of glittering generalities in dealing with our national problems. People are in need of food, clothes, shelter, fuel, education and recreation. An improvement of the means and opportunities of getting these is the crying need of the hour."

Reply.

In his reply Premier Meighen said: "I have your letter of October 20, enclosing an appeal for the re-establishment of the Canada Wheat Board as it existed for the handling of the wheat crop in 1912. I have noted as well the remarks in your letter supporting the formal appeal. You support in your letter the re-establishment of the Board last month I outlined a plan for the handling of all grain by means of which a board, armed with ample power, would be enabled to receive and dispose of it by any producer who desired to so entrust his grain, the entire method being along the lines of that previously followed by the Canada Wheat Board as regards wheat."

Information Asked.

"You state in your letter that you have also written to Mr. Mackenzie King and to Mr. Crerar. You have definitely requested me to commit myself to the re-establishment of a board with exclusive monopolistic powers such as the Wheat Board possesses. Would you kindly inform me whether you have made a similar request to Mr. Crerar and if so, please be good enough to let me know his reply. I would ask also that you inform me whether you have made a similar request to Mr. King and would be obliged as well to know his reply. I draw to your attention the fact that the two gentlemen you refer to have yet made any proposal, and would be most interested to learn what such proposals are when they come. And that the attitude of the organization above referred to will be toward them. My policy is before the people and it is for them to accept it or reject it. Yours faithfully, (Sgd.) "ARTHUR MEIGHEN."

LABOR QUESTIONS DEBATED AT GENEVA

Canadian Delegates Give Views at Conference

London, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A Reuters dispatch from Geneva says that at Saturday's meeting of the International Labor Conference the Canadian and British Government delegates were among the many Government representatives who supported all the labor delegates in securing the retention on the programme of items concerning unemployment, protection of women and children and technical instruction in agriculture. The South African Government and Delegation, which included the French and Swiss Government delegates.

S. R. Parsons of Canada, symposium with the French objections, and contended that the inclusion of agricultural questions in the agenda was impracticable. He suggested a going slowly as regarded recommendations and conventions. Some of his statements regarding wages and the Amsterdam International Cattle and Poultry Pests Conference of Great Britain and Delegation, Tom Moore of Canada, Mr. Moore said if the benefits enjoyed by the industrial workers could be extended to agricultural workers it would conduce to keeping agricultural workers on the farms and preventing migration to towns.

Delegate Merton of Belgium also protested against the inclusion of agricultural questions in the Amsterdam International Cattle and Poultry Pests Conference, which he said was unwarranted. The president intervened and requested Mr. Merton to confine his remarks to the subject under discussion.

Shopping Truths

WOMEN who are judges of quality; whose touch tells of a fabric; whose eyes know tailoring; women to whom the language of fashion is an open book—patronize shops whose reliability they have proved by the keen tests of their expert judgment.

WOMEN who do not possess an accurate knowledge of style, who are not confident of their ability to choose dependable materials and workmanship should purchase where a reputation for quality merchandise and fair dealing has been established by years of trustworthy selling service.

IT is a significant fact that women of both the above types make Mallek's their shopping home, secure in the realization that whatever their expenditure, quality received is undeviating. Fabric texture, design and workmanship are as carefully considered in the most modestly priced garment as in one at five times the cost.

WHEN prices are concerned, you can rely on Mallek's. Buying for cash and selling for cash gives our patrons full advantage both ways. To the woman in need of a Suit, Coat, Dress or Skirt we would suggest that she compare our garments and prices with those sold elsewhere. We are sure that everything will be in our favor.

MINE DISASTER IS INVESTIGATED

More Than Seventy Australians Lost Lives

Brisbane, Australia, Oct. 31.—A Queensland Government Commission is investigating the disaster which took the lives of more than seventy miners at Mount Mulligan, Queensland, and a relief fund to aid the families of the men killed is being raised among the large donations being one from King George. Little doubt is expressed that the disaster was due to the accidental striking of a gas pocket.

The disaster was one of the worst mining disasters known in Australia. An explosion blew one of the mine galleries to pieces, filled the mine with deadly gas and caused the deaths of over seventy workers. Only a few escaped through the circumstances that they happened to be far enough from the spot to enable them to rush for the surface before the gas overtook them.

The bodies, when brought out, were mostly inclosed in extraordinary ways. Hundreds of women waited about the pit mouth while the rescue scenes were going forward as a marked section of shift of miners who had not been affected by the explosion spent night and day for three days braving the deadly gas in the desperate search for their lost comrades. The women arranged refreshments for the men while they worked at rescue and did not give up their vigil for nearly a week, sleeping at their posts. Twenty bodies found in one gallery had their faces to the floor, showing they had tried to escape the poisonous air to the last minute. Destruction of the air shaft by the explosion cut off the chance of escape for most of the workers from the start.

Car Burned.

Miles in the heart of Northern Australia the motor car carrying Francis Birtles, a famous Australian explorer of the central part of the continent, exploded and burned up thousands of feet of moving picture film and many photographs as well as all provisions and supplies. Birtles and a companion crawled for miles to a camp of natives where they were succored, and later brought a motor car to the station where they recovered from the bad burns they had received.

The little party was on a mission to explore certain routes for the proposed north-to-south railway which the government proposes when it can get the money to build across the continent. "The interior of Australia," Mr. Birtles says, "is popularly supposed to be a vast arid desert but we found it nothing of the kind. It was a country of luxuriant grass, well timbered and yielding waters suitable for railway engines of domestic purposes, at a depth of ten feet under the surface of the ground. In the neighborhood of Alice Springs I found at least fifty varieties of edible stock grasses and shrubs."

The car when carried a tank of gasoline for the exploration trip struck a stump and burst the tank, which took fire. Only by leaping from the car instantly were the explorers able to save their lives. As it was they were badly burned. But they propose to return to the Never-Never Land as soon as possible and continue their search for the best railway route over the plains.

BIG CROP RESTORES CANADA TRADE HOPE

Montreal, Oct. 31.—There appears to be little doubt in Canadian business and financial circles that the worst phase of the business readjustment has been witnessed. It is expected that from now on a gradual but persistent recuperative movement will be noted, probably attaining its full growth some time next year. For some weeks past there has been noticeable a marked betterment in underlying conditions. The development is taken as indicating the culmination of the period of severe liquidation of inventories and the general squeezing out of all things inflationary.

In the more populous sections of the Dominion, where large industrial works are located, general trade betterment is probably less marked than in the agricultural sections. In these latter the outlook is viewed with particular satisfaction, except in such areas as depend largely upon one class of crop, which may have proved poor this year. In most sections of the country, however, sentiment has cheered perceptibly.

The pending Federal government elections have not yet had much bearing on business conditions, although they will serve to clear the air to a large extent, no matter which party wins out. Re-election of the present government would mean a greatly changed personnel, which would give a necessary feeling of confidence, while a complete change of party would probably be viewed with broad satisfaction. The ultimate result of the election will have marked bearing on Canada's future. In view of her peculiar position in respect of foreign trade, created largely by the United States, new tariff enactments.

The Grand Trunk Railway award, which was handed down here recently, came quite as much of a shock to Canada as to London, Canadians, although not as heavily involved in the company's securities as are the British, have suffered great humiliation, as they realize that their country's policy in this respect is being severely criticized in Great Britain throughout the rest of the world.

All attention now centres in the grain crop of the prairie provinces. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has voiced the opinion that the crop will distinctly be a debt paying one and that the West will emerge from harvest worries in a better financial position as a result of the most active season.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such up-building treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearce, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised me the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

A. W. NEILL IS CHOSEN CANDIDATE

Runs as Independent in Comox-Alberni

Courtenay, Oct. 31.—At a convention held here Saturday night of opponents of the Meighen government, Alan Webster Neill, of Alberni, received the nomination as independent candidate to oppose H. S. Clements in Comox-Alberni. Eight candidates were nominated but two of these, both from Courtenay, refused to stand and practically all the support from the centre of the riding went to Mr. Neill, who won on the first ballot.

The candidates nominated were: A. W. Neill, of Alberni; J. F. Bledsoe, of Port Alberni; J. S. Cowper, of Vancouver; Alex. Swan, of Fanny Bay; Joseph Martin, of Vancouver; George Every, of Courtenay; Comox; Campbell Highet, of Courtenay; and Edward Navy, of Union Bay. Messrs. Clayton and Highet refused to stand. West Coast delegates were in full strength with two candidates and J. S. Cowper, who came second to Mr. Neill, had the backing of the union men from Powell River.

Of the six candidates, Mr. Neill spoke first and made an instant impression. He said it was his realization of twenty-five years of public life to see the people take a non-partisan interest in politics. In all the time he had been in British Columbia he had never belonged to either the Conservative or Liberal party and had won three elections as an independent. He declared himself for a white British Columbia, and an anti-waste campaign and said Comox-Alberni should not be the fifth wheel of Vancouver coach.

Messrs. Martin and Cowper made fighting speeches but the desire to have a local man was too strong for them. Sixty-three delegates voted,

Mr. Neill getting 32 and Mr. Cowper 14, while the other candidates were outdistanced. The nomination was made unanimous and all who had been nominated pledged themselves to vote and work for the success of the independent candidate.

Mr. Neill was a member of the Provincial Legislature for two terms about twenty years ago.

Mr. Clements, candidate of the Meighen party, represented the riding in the Parliament recently dissolved.

GERMANY AND WORLD LEAGUE

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Germany would make a grave mistake if she should enter the League of Nations while the United States and Russia remain outside that organization, declared Dr. Walter Simon, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, in an interview with The Gelsenkirchen Gazette.

He added, he expected the United States would help Germany, but declared he did not know the form this assistance would take. He suggested the possibility, however, that the United States might use Germany as a middleman in an effort to secure Russian trade.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM NEEDED

An editorial article in The Comox Argus says:

Of what value is the experimental farm at Sidney to farmers in the Comox, Parksville and Nanaimo districts, to say nothing of the developing country farther north where there is even more rain? Professor Stevenson's very interesting report, parts of which are reproduced this week in Farm Topics, speaks of the dry conditions existing during the period of growth of the nut tree varieties is much against the success of commercial nut culture. How often do we suffer from dry conditions?

Sidney has an average rainfall of about a third of that experienced in the Comox district and the soil is light and sandy, whereas our best soil is black and rich.

The report also speaks of "the development of the foreign economic plants—tea, clove, and persimmon—semi-tropical plants in Comox?" There should be another experimental farm on Vancouver Island, and Courtenay, by reason of its situation in the centre of the largest area of cultivated land and also because climate and rainfall approximate those of the remainder of the island from Duncan north much more closely than the same influences on growth at Sidney.

There was some promise of a substitution here but even that half look is not given yet.

Girls Not Delinquent.

Nanaimo—There is not a single Nanaimo delinquent entered on the register of the Girls' Industrial Home at Vancouver, according to Miss Margaret Bayne, superintendent of the institution, in an address before the Local Council of Women at Oddfellows' Hall. The speaker stated that Nanaimo had not been represented in the home since its inception in 1914, since when 156 girls had been admitted.

Miss Bayne pointed out that in practically every case the girls were inmates of the home owing to abnormal family conditions, most cases being sub-normal and if allowed to continue would become a menace to society. The girls were graded and having a suitable education were given a course of commercial training, and later found a position. Everything possible was done to keep back the fact that they had been inmates of the home.

Expresses Pride.

The speaker spoke with considerable pride of the progress made by the majority of the girls, one having been second in the province in the Civil Service examinations. Many of the girls, but now occupying good city positions and but few prove to be ungrateful or unworthy of the trouble taken with them.

Those girls who are unsuited for this kind of work are given muscular training and the majority of them drift into housework owing to the lack of variety of work. Among the things taught at the institute can be found poultry keeping and dairying, farming ten acres of land, and many of the girls prefer agriculture to indoor work.

Legs in Demand.

Campbell River—A number of men have arrived here for the International and Duncan Bay logging camps and will be employed in working two sides owing to the increased demand for logs from the Vancouver and Victoria mills. Both the Seymour Logging Co., who have a camp near the Seymour Narrows, and the Lamb Bros., at Menzies Bay, are going full blast and putting great numbers of logs in the water. The rise in the price of logs is reflected in the cheerful countenances of the big operators here and a continuous period of prosperity is looked for.

Fete To-night.

Qualicum Beach—To inaugurate the opening of their new hall, the members of the Farmers' Institute will give the children of the district a grand fete on Halloween. A great bonfire will be built on the townsite. Arrangements have been made to entertain one hundred and ten children. Each child will receive a bag of candy and other good things associated with Halloween festivities. There will also be a costume contest, prizes being awarded to the best costume suggestive of Halloween.

To Have Own Plant.

Courtenay—The Royston Light and Power Company with a capital of five thousand dollars has been formed to give light and power to Royston. The plan is to well advised that the incorporators expect to be able to deliver light and power by the end of November.

The original incorporators are the Royston Garage, Jos. Idiens and Messrs. Ukiyama and Laver. They are going to tap the Canadian Collieries Company's main at Royston.

News of Duncan.

Duncan, Oct. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Ferris are back in Duncan for a short visit on their way from England to New Zealand. They expect to sail early in November. Captain the Honorable C. Mulholland, who has been staying in Duncan the last few months, with his uncle, M. C. C. Ward, intends to go with them.

The unprecedented rains are causing much trouble in and around Duncan. Part of the road to Chemainus is closed, owing to bridges being under water, and the bridge from Mainway Island to Swallowfield Farm Road is washed away, thus marooning the owner, Captain William.

As usual a large number attended the basketball matches played at the Agricultural Hall last evening. The first game started promptly at 7.45 between the High School girls and the Ramblers, the former team winning 5-0. Up to the end of the first half no score had been made but the second half proved too much for the Ramblers, who won 21-10. The referees gave general satisfaction. For the first game and E. Evans for the last two games.

The teams were as follows: High School Girls—Viola Harris, captain; H. Best, J. Castley, A. Strouger, Edna Castley. Ramblers—Mrs. French, captain; Mabel Knicker, May Tombs, Carrie Best, E. Pourier.

Scarlet Runners—Doctor French, J. Talbot, B. Whan, H. Campbell, J. Woodward.

Bankers—C. Bell, C. Church, W. Whaley, A. D. Carr-Hilton, B. Dowell.

Epworth League—R. A. Thorpe, D. Campbell, J. Dirom, S. Weismiller, A. Dirom.

High School—C. Bell, V. Tarleton, H. Munro, D. Tait, H. Phillips.

Duncan, Oct. 29.—The box social given last evening at the Somers Farmers' Union was a very enjoyable event. About 50 were present which was considered very good on account of the terrible weather.

Captain Marrs, piano, and Mrs. Purvey, violin, opened the programme with the Toreador's March. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Snow, again delighted their audience, both having such beautiful voices and so well-trained. Mrs. Snow sang "Mignonette" and "Be Near My Heart" with "Break of Day" and "Berceuse de Jocelyn" for encores. Mr. Snow sang "Four Jolly Sailors" (encore "A Little Irish Girl") and two songs of the air service—"Billy" and "Finest Job of All."

Captain Marrs also sang "Jean, Jean, My Sweet Niagara Queen," the words of which are by a local writer, Mrs. Ethel Mae Imrie.

The boxes which the ladies took filled with dainties for two, were auctioned off amid much amusement, good prices being realized. Alto-

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and bad fever and sick dizziness spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends whenever they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. Henry A. Wilson, R.F.D.5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backache, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Advt.

gether a delightful evening was spent.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES.

Reno Mines.

The Reno Gold Mines, Ltd., of Sheep Creek, has been incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000 in dollar shares, of which $500,000 have been placed in the treasury. The officers are: W. B. Pool, president and general manager; Thomas Kilpatrick, vice-president; Clarence Pool, treasurer; James O'Shea, secretary and solicitor; Michael O'Donnell, director and the superintendent of development work.

This property has six veins that have been prospectively sufficiently to prove the Reno has great potentiality. No. 1, or the main vein, has been traced 1,700 feet. It has a width of three feet. Its assayed values in gold average $30. Four assays recently taken showed gold values of $66.50, $213.40, $146.50 and $27.50. For over 100 feet a shoot has been defined carrying well over $100 a ton in gold. The other three veins show very similar potentialities.

The owners of this promising gold property are offering for sale a limited issue of shares. In doing so they feel they are "placing before Nelson citizens the opportunity to invest in a property that will shortly be one of the big gold producers of the district. Sale of the company's stock has been certified by A. G. Langley, the Government engineer.

World's Production of Coal.

The world's production of coal during the first six months of 1921, according to reports collected by the United States Geological Survey, was approximately 525,300,000 metric tons. This was at an annual rate of 1,950,000,000 tons, a decrease of 250,000,000 tons when compared with the year 1920, and much below the output in any year of the preceding decade. The largest factors in this decrease were the British miners' strike, which lasted from April to June, and the world-wide industrial depression. The reaction has been in striking contrast to the feverish demand of 1920.

Claims Bonded.

The Silver Bar and Waverley groups of claims at Ahe Ahu, both situated on the northeast fork of the Kitsuau River, have been bonded for $75,000 and $30,000 respectively. The former, owned by A. Maguire, was bonded by Eastern capital, the same as that which bonded the David Copperfield.

The heat units in any gasoline mixture separate easily. Lighter fractions either evaporate or are burned up too quickly by your motor, while the heavy ends remain in the tank—a clear loss of power and mileage that you pay for but never get.

Imperial Premier Gasoline is a straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline with a complete, unbroken chain of boiling points. Every drop burns clean, giving you unequalled power, mileage and satisfaction. If better gasoline could be made, Imperial Oil Limited would make it.

THE FLOODS.

To the unfortunate people who have suffered through the disastrous floods at Britannia and on the Lower Mainland the genuine sympathy of this community will go out. The torrential rains which have virtually submerged the town of Coquitlam and other sections through which the freshet waters have torn their turbulent way have caused a tremendous material loss to the residents and no small amount of inconvenience and property destruction to the railway companies. But the tragedy of Britannia causes the other misfortunes to pale into insignificance by reason of the appalling toll in human lives. Almost in the twinkling of an eye this prosperous community of trim dwellings and well-tended gardens became converted into a shambles and one-sixth of the population were swallowed up in the merciless watery avalanche.

Some idea of the havoc which the peculiar humor of Nature has wrought may be gleaned from the graphic reports of conditions as viewed by eye-witnesses. And it is now a matter for consideration by the proper authorities as to whether or not anything may be done to reduce the dangers to which the people living in the inundated sections of the Province are constantly exposed, whether there is any phase of engineering skill which may be intrigued against the mysterious works of Nature. In the meantime the path of public duty lies in the taking care of those who have lost home and loved ones.

THE GREATEST ISSUE.

Canada is the proprietor of 21,000 miles of railway, involving a capital liability of more than $1,500,000,000. The deficit of that enormous system this year is expected to be between $70,000,000 and $100,000,000, enough to absorb the entire annual income tax revenue collected by Ottawa from the Canadian people.

Mr. Meighen says the sole issue of the present election is the tariff. What about our railway problem? It is many times more formidable than the tariff. We have had tariffs of various kinds for more than half a century, and while tariff readjustment is not an easy task, it has been done so often that it presents no terrors to any Government as far as ways and means are concerned.

But the operation of those 21,000 miles of railways is a totally different proposition. The country became the owner of four-fifths of them comparatively speaking overnight. It has to run a land transportation system more extensive than the C. P. R. without having graduated from the school of hard, practical experience, such as the C. P. R. had to do. What kind of management is this vast national system receiving? What sort of an organization has been developed? Who are in control and why? What relationship, if any, is there between the old Mackenzie & Mann financial group, of which Mr. Meighen was the special champion in the House of Commons, and the present Board of Directors of the national railways? Millions upon millions are expended yearly in the purchase of equipment and supplies for those lines. How are those purchases made and who make them? Is there extravagance or favoritism?

All of these questions are right to the point. They have to do with the public interest, with a matter which has more bearing upon the economic status of this country than any other factor. Is it not a fair inference that one reason why Mr. Meighen is endeavoring to keep the public mind riveted on the tariff is that he does not want to discuss the railway problem in its intimate details?

WELL DONE GYRO CLUB!

If the citizens of Victoria do not take a practical interest in the municipal elections this year it will not be the fault of the Gyro Club of this city. During the last two weeks this energetic association of the younger business men of the community has conducted a campaign with the express object of bringing home to the people the responsibility which rests upon every qualified elector. There will be few who will not have seen the pointed reminders in the form of window cards throughout the city or the published endorsements by prominent officials in the newspapers. The incidental cost of the plan has been defrayed solely by these young men themselves and we take especial pleasure in extending hearty congratulations to them. Through their efforts a larger electoral roll than ever before has been compiled and that in itself represents something of greater importance than may appear at first sight. The club has rendered a distinct and valuable public service to this community and the progressive sentiment which propelled the campaign is something of which its members, as well as the community at large, may well be proud.

AMALGAMATION.

Those ex-service men in the city of Victoria who take an interest in the welfare of one or other of the well-known organizations for membership in which their work in France qualifies them—as well as former members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who are not actively associated with any of the organized bodies—would do well to lend their support to the deliberations which will take place at the Trades Hall next Friday evening. The subject of discussion will be that of amalgamation and a report of the provisional ex-service amalgamation committee will form the basis for the evening's business. It is unnecessary to remind the returned men of Victoria of the decision of the Great War Veterans' Association in annual convention at Port Arthur recently. At the same time until local and provincial branches of the various bodies solidify local and provincial sentiment the task of the amalgamationists or even the federationists will not be as simple as it might be made. On this account Victoria may well set a lead for the new departure just as it did when it gave birth to the first of the associations out of which has grown the several bodies whose virtually identical aims are about to be unified.

JAPAN'S SPIRIT.

If all the delegates to the Washington conference go in a similar mood to that which is obviously indicated by the observations made to The Times by Prince Tokugawa—these should be very little difficulty in reaching a conclusion that will satisfy the peoples of the world. In part the leader of the Japanese delegation said as follows:

"I think that everybody who knows my work in Japan realizes that I am opposed to militarism as the world's popularly conceived term militarism. My country is not in need of armaments for offence. All that is necessary for Japan is to have an army and navy adequate for her defence. Japan is by nature a peaceful land. Our population is increasing and we have grave problems like that of finding raw materials necessary for our manufactures and the problem of food supply. We are an energetic people and are naturally looking forward to economic development such as is necessary to meet the needs of our growing empire. In the Far East, which is naturally our special field of interest, we trust that the nations will be able to reach some understanding so that causes of conflict in the future will be avoided. That is why, in addition to the question of armaments upon which the world is anxiously waiting some understanding, I think it is of the greatest importance that the interested powers should come together and reach some accord and practical understanding concerning our respective interests in the Pacific and the Far East. If, as I hope, the conference is conducted in a spirit of candor and frankness, I have no doubt about its ultimate success. At all events candor and frankness will be the keynote of the Japanese attitude."

Candor and frankness is absolutely essential to success. There must be no diplomatic niceties. The world is tired of the old method of diplomacy. What it wants to see is the cards upon the table, face uppermost. It will have no more of closed-door procedure. It demands the light of day upon international dealings.

TELLING HALF A TALE.

One of our Mainland contemporaries looks askance at Great Britain's anti-dumping measure and rather infers that the protection of articles produced in nine key-industries is the beginning of a larger departure from the country's traditional free trade policies. Some of the Meighen campaigners and a fairly large section of the pro-Meighen press similarly indulge themselves and cite the Anti-Dumping Act as an argument in favor of the retention of the tariff in this country. Neither our contemporary nor the Meighen forces either go beyond the fringe of the question or attempt to relate even a few of the difficulties which the measure encountered before it reached the statute books. No reference is made to the apologetic manner in which the President of the Board of Trade introduced the bill in the House of Commons, how the Speaker designated it as a financial question in order to evade a possible rejection by the Lords, how its passage after all was only assured because of the distinct understanding that it was a temporary measure designed to defeat German dumping, how German manufacturers hitherto ruled the roost in the articles protected, and how, finally, taxation of thirty-three and one-third per cent. would give the British manufacturer a fair show in a new field while the depreciated Mark placed him at a disadvantage. None of these things are referred to by the Meighen speakers and press. They do not suit the party cry. None the less they are facts and one has only to refer to the British Hansard to verify them.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is scarcely necessary to mention the question of relief for Mainland sufferers from the week-end floods. Here is a case which will undoubtedly commend itself to the Legislature.

Among pictures no artist can paint would be something new in the annual peroration of Mr. Bowser in speaking on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

After all Victoria has something to be thankful for. It escapes the excessive rainfall of the Mainland and the awful misery which Nature's moods sometimes impose.

One of the objects of the British Empire Union is a war upon Bolshevism and in an attempt to solidify public opinion in its favor in London on Friday a meeting was literally stormed by communists and well-known agitators. Why not let it alone; give it enough rope and it will hang itself.

HOROSCOPE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1921.
(Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as an exceedingly unpropitious day. While Mercury, Mars, Neptune and Saturn are adverse. Under this planetary rule the mind is likely to be disturbed and unsettled. The exercise of will power should be unremitting and mental poise should be cultivated at all hazards.

This should be a favorable direction of the stars for all sorts of publicity and increase of advertising is indicated. Theatres should benefit greatly from this position of the stars, which indicates better opportunities for actresses and fame for newcomers on the stage.

Concerts, parties and all assemblies at which there is appeal to the lighter side of life are well directed to-day.

Weddings are subject to the best planetary influences, although the stars promise material rather than spiritual well-being. Moon governs the month of November is conjoined with Mercury close to the cusp of the fourth house and is believed to have a disturbing influence on the public mind.

Mars in the second house is read as meaning to the public purse and indicative of reduction in revenues. Waste and extravagance in the use of the people's money are forecast and reforms will be demanded in many cities.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have a year that brings worries and annoyances, but these can be overcome by attention to details. The health should be safeguarded. Children born on this day are likely to be brilliant and at the same time industrious. They have great possibilities and should win success in life.

POLITICS

Canada—A Nation or a Colony?

Mr. Motherwell in the Fight That Awkward Party Name. War Liberals Leave Cabinet. Big Business Relies on Meighen. Hamilton and the Tariff.

If Canada accepts the "indirect quasi-representation" to the Disarmament Conference offered her, she will have to accept also the United States' interpretation of her position in the world—the position of a dependent colony. With this warning The Manitoba Free Press attacks the Meighen Government's attitude toward Canada's part in the Washington gathering of nations. The Free Press warmly endorses General Smuts's recent announcement that South Africa would not appear at an international conference except "in her own right and not by the cover of the international rights of the British Government." The course of the Canadian Government in falling in so meekly with an arrangement which appears to have been planned to prejudice the international status of Canada, hardly won at Paris, is inexplicable except upon assumptions very disparaging to the Canadian Premier, The Free Press declares.

The nomination of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former provincial Minister of Agriculture as a Liberal candidate for Regina has caused interest all over Canada. Mr. Motherwell, The Montreal Herald observes, is well-known throughout Saskatchewan, first as one of the fathers of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers, a nominee of which may now be his opponent in the coming election and, secondly, for his dramatic break with Premier Martin in 1919. On that occasion Mr. Motherwell, when the Premier declared that provincial and Federal politics must be divorced, disagreed, left the Government and ran as a Liberal in the by-election in Assiniboia. The result of the election is, of course, history and Motherwell, since losing his deposit in that fight, has been more or less out of the public eye.

Conservatives are beginning to think they made a bad mistake when they allowed Liberalism to enter even into the name of their party. Mr. Meighen describes Mr. Crerar as a Liberal, evidently thinking that this description will injure him, as if some discredit attached to the name. The Toronto Globe points out. Yet Mr. Meighen's party has borrowed the word Liberal and included it in the party name. It is appealing to Liberals for support in the fight against the Progressives. It is holding office by virtue of a mandate given to a Government that was a union of Liberals and Conservatives. It asks for the support of Liberals who supported Union Government. And then Mr. Meighen blames Mr. Crerar for being a Liberal.

Of the Liberals who joined the Union Government in 1917, The Manitoba Free Press reminds us, only one remains in the Meighen Cabinet—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne. Hon. Hugh Guthrie joined the Union Government after its formation. Of the Liberal members who have left the Cabinet, Hon. F. B. Carvell went to the Railway Commission; Hon. T. A. Crerar resigned and became leader of the National Progressive party; Hon. S. C. Mewburn resigned, but continued to support the Government in the House; Hon. A. K. MacLean subsequently returned to the Liberal benches; Hon. A. L. Sifton died; Hon. N. W. Rowell resigned from the Government and retired from public life, and

Hon. J. A. Calder has recently been appointed to the Senate.

If the Government is controlled by Big Business how is it that Big Business permits the Government to make it pay most of the taxes? friends of Mr. Meighen are demanding. Why did Big Business stand for the business profits tax—the most severe of its kind to be found—and why does it permit Canadian income taxes to be the highest—on large incomes—in the world, and why the corporation tax? they ask.

The answer, says The Toronto Star, is simple. It was not the Meighen Government which imposed these taxes. But it is the Meighen Government which is relied upon to remove them, or shift the burden of them to the shoulders of the people at large. The Union Government, as a war measure, levied taxes on big business when big business was so affluent that it didn't care, and when patriotic feeling ran so high that the Government could do what was right without fear of anyone.

Hamilton is an industrial city. On that account, a large number of Hamilton people think they will be ruined unless Mr. Meighen remains at Ottawa and high protection remains the policy of the Federal Government. Between 1881 and 1891, when Mr. Meighen and his friends were in office, the population of Hamilton grew from 36,691 to 48,950. The Toronto Globe reminds us. Between 1901 and 1911, when Mr. Meighen's friends were out of office, the population grew from 52,634 to 81,969.

In 1900 the products of Hamilton factories were valued at $17,122,346. In 1910, after ten years of Liberal tariff adminis-

Then see if your friends notice prettier teeth

Make this pleasant ten-day test. See what it does for your teeth. Then judge for yourself—by the clear results—how much this method means.

Millions of people have thus found a way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. And you will also find it.

It fights film

This method combats the film on teeth—that viscous coat you feel. Film is the teeth's great enemy. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Brushing in the old ways does not end this film. And most tooth troubles are caused by what is left. Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Very few people have escaped these troubles caused by film.

Two new methods

Dental science has now found two methods to fight film. Many careful tests have proved their efficiency. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Other factors, now considered essential, are included with it.

The scientific film combant, approved by modern authorities and now advised by leading dentists everywhere—to bring five desired effects. All druggists supply the large tubes.

FREE

This Ten-Day test costs you nothing. Simply mail the coupon. Then watch the delightful effects.

Pepsodent combats the film with every application. It keeps teeth highly polished, so film less easily adheres.

It also stimulates the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits which so often cling and form acid. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Thus every use brings five desired effects which old methods failed to bring.

The modern way

Pepsodent is based on modern research. It does what authorities now regard as essential. Half the world over it is displacing old methods, largely by dental advice.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscid film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Watch all the good effects. The book we send will tell the reason for them. Then decide if this method, in your family, should supersede the old. Cut out the coupon now.

IMPORTANT HOCKEY MEETING.

All amateur hockey players and officials are asked to attend meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in Y. M. C. A. to discuss important matters.

HOCKEY CONDITIONS NOT BAD AFTER ALL

Commission Investigating Rumors in Amateur Hockey Did Not Find Much

Central Registrar Is Appointed; B. C. Request Is Granted by C.A.H.A.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—A meeting of the Canadian Hockey Commission was held here Saturday with Dr. Bruce Macdonald, chairman; Murray Thompson, Moose Jaw; President W. R. Granger, of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association; Sheriff Paxton, of Whittier, and Nelson Crowe, of the A. A. U. of C. in attendance.

Since the appointment of the committee, the members, collectively and individually, have been investigating the amateur hockey situation in all parts of Canada, and Saturday morning they expect as a result of the investigation, recommendations and the appointment of a central registrar for the C. A. H. A., that the amateur situation will be clarified greatly this season.

No announcement will be made of the result of the investigations or the recommendations made until they have been considered by the C. A. H. A. Members of the committee, however, stated that the investigations did not bring to light such deplorable conditions in the hockey world as were alleged at the time of the annual meeting in Winnipeg, and they expect as a result of the investigation, recommendations and the appointment of a central registrar for the C. A. H. A., that the amateur situation will be clarified greatly this season.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—With one of the most representative hockey gatherings in the history of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, an executive meeting was held here Saturday at which plans for the season's campaign were outlined by President W. R. Granger, of Montreal, and adopted by the various representatives of affiliated branches. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the organization of a Dominion registration committee with a chief registrar.

The newly appointed registration committee will have power to investigate the standing of any player who is given a player's certificate by the provincial body under whose jurisdiction he is playing. All applications for certificates must be made to the provincial bodies and a copy of the application, whether granted or rejected, must be forwarded to the central office.

This will have the desired effect of placing a greater curb on the tourist players. The registration committee shall consist of five members from the east, two from the west and the president.

Those appointed for the first season were: W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, registrar; Murray Thompson, Saskatoon; A. E. Coe, Winnipeg; Sheriff Paxton, Whittier, and President W. R. Granger.

B. C. Gets Square Deal.

On the request of Guy Suckling, who represented the British Columbia branch, the executive arranged to draw for the elimination competitions, under which British Columbia will be assured of the greater part of the travelling expenses.

Mr. Suckling suggested that British Columbia had always been handicapped by the high travelling expenses and that, in his opinion, the resolution passed would assure the branch of competing in the elimination contests.

Under the revised constitution, players for college teams will be allowed to play for the Allan Cup in only one association and must declare for which association they will play when the scheduled season is commenced.

The meeting arranged the Allan Cup draw in the elimination contests, British Columbia will play off with Saskatchewan; Thunder Bay with Manitoba, the winners to play off in home and home games.

Quebec winners will play off with Ottawa federation in home and home games; O. H. A. to play off with Inter-Collegiate winners, the winners to play off with the winners of the Quebec-Ottawa game. The Western Inter-Collegiate Union will be included in the eliminations this season. Should Saskatchewan or Manitoba win they will play off with the provincial champions, and in case of Alberta winning, they will draw a bye to be scheduled later.

Won Qualifying Round of 36 Holes In Victoria Championship With Card of 150; Many Well-Known Golfers In Charmed Circle and Will Play In First and Second Rounds Next Saturday.

"Big" Wilson, one of Victoria's premier golfers, who only recently returned from St. Louis, where he competed in the United States national amateur championship, had the honor of turning in the best card in the qualifying round of the Victoria golf championship played at the Oak Bay links yesterday.

Wilson was in top form and he completed the first eighteen holes in 78. He improved in his second eighteen, his score being 72. A. V. Macan, captain of the Oak Bay Club, was the second low man, his card for the thirty-six holes being 155.

CHELSEA'S VICTORY CAUSES GREAT STIR

A. V. Price, who holds both the Victoria and British Columbia golf championships, had the fourth best card, his score being 163.

Burnley Although at Full Strength, Started by Form of Former Weak Club

Middlesex's Return to Chelsea's Lineup Rejuvenated Team; Other Notes

London, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The startling surprise of the English soccer league football matches on Saturday was the wonderful display of Chelsea against Burnley at Stamfordbridge, in the First Division. Although without a victory for two months, Chelsea gave a sterling performance, causing the critics to sit up and take notice, against a defence which included Dawson, goalkeeper for England in the international match against Ireland last Saturday. The return of Middlesex to Chelsea materially strengthened the team.

The decisive nature of Aston Villa's revenge over Middlesbrough by a score of 6 to 2, furthered another surprise, after Middlesbrough's 5 to 0 victory over Aston a week ago.

In the Second Division, Crystal Palace recorded their first win away from home against Blackpool, and Bristol City their first at home with Hull as their opponents.

Fulham's performance against Rotherham was a disappointment, their defeat by the latter being mainly due to the poor work of the forwards.

Scored Just in Time.

Clapton Orient's victory over Notts was mainly due to the fine goal-keeping of Woods, although the match was nip-and-tuck all the way until Lennox, on a sensational play for home, scored the decisive goal just as time was called.

In the Third Division, Norwich City registered its first victory of the season by defeating Reading. As a result of this game there is no first-class club without a win to its credit.

Merthyr's first defeat at the hands of Bristol Rovers, who have not been beaten in their last six matches, is attributed to the fact that Brown, Merthyr's captain, strained himself during the game and was compelled to leave the field.

U. S. HOCKEY HEADS OUT SKATING BODY

Decide to Govern Their Own Sport; Amend Rules to Conform with C.A.H.A.

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—The United States Hockey Association decided last night to withdraw from the International Skating Union and to make its own association governing body in hockey.

It was also decided to change the American rules of the game to conform to the Canadian code by making it legal to skate a man on side. It was announced that Hamilton B. Wills, of Toronto, had donated an International Cup, and that any team in the United States and Canada that is approved by the National Amateur body will be eligible to compete for it.

THE DRAW.

The draw for the first round of the championship is as follows: Thornton Fell, Scott-Moncrieff and C. L. McKenise for the thirty-first and second position will constitute one pair.

Thomas vs. Perry; Garrett vs. Quinn; J. E. Wilson vs. Beasley; Price vs. Freeman; Straith vs. Darcy Martin; B. Wilson vs. Johnson; McKenise vs. Sayna; Findlay vs. Matterson; Collins vs. J. H. Wilson; York vs. Edmunds; Hodges vs. Simpson; Harveys vs. Westmoreland; Macan vs. Unlake.

"BIG FOUR" PLAYERS ASK RE-INSTATEMENT

Calgary, Oct. 31.—Two players of last year's Big Four Hockey League applied for reinstatement at the annual meeting of the Amateur Union held here Saturday night. They were Alva Sibbett and Carl Kendall, both members of the Calgary Canadians. Sibbett is a student at the University of Alberta in Edmonton now.

ARENA WILL OPEN TO-MORROW NIGHT.

Skaters will be able to resume their favorite winter pastime to-morrow night when the doors of the Arena will swing open once more.

M'GILL BEATEN BY 'VARSITY'S KICKS

Red and Whites Unable to Get Anywhere by Plunging and Lost by 16 to 2

15,000 Spectators Watched Old Rivals Battle at Toronto Saturday

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Playing a kicking game all the way through, the University of Toronto defeated McGill at the Stadium here on Saturday afternoon by a score of 16 to 2, and attained a position of advantage in the Intercollegiate rugby football race.

The adoption of the kicking game gave Somerville and Snyder a chance to show some wonderful football. They both showed excellent judgment in their booting, kicking high enough to allow their wings to be waiting for the McGill backs to catch the ball and also placing the ball to perfection. Of Varsity's 16 points, 12 were credited to Somerville's toe and two to Snyder's kicking.

McGill Tried to Plunge.

McGill soon learned that they could not gain with kicking and resorted to the plunging method of offense and it was successful except just when needed most.

The officials had little trouble with the much-discussed interference, only a few penalties being awarded, but there was a considerable number of 15-yards lost during the afternoon by plays being offside with McGill as the chief offenders. The game was the most open of the local season and was featured, among other things, by the hard and deadly tackling of both teams.

Argos Bump Ottawa And Win Rugby Title

Toronto Oarsmen Defeated Senators Before 10,000 People at National Capital Saturday and Won Inter-Provincial Honors; Conacher, Blonde Giant of Argos, Is Outstanding Star.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Argonauts of Toronto are champions of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union for the 1921 season. They definitely established ownership of the title here on Saturday when, continuing their unbroken string of victories, they defeated the Ottawa Senators in the deciding game of the season, 11 to 3. Not for many years has so much interest been manifested in a rugby game in the capital, and nearly 10,000 persons witnessed the struggle.

Heralded as one of the greatest football teams in the history of the game, the Blue and White more than lived up to their advance notices, and securing an early lead in the first quarter when Conacher kicked to Tubman for a single, they maintained their advantage throughout the game.

Wonderful Half-Back.

To Conacher, half-back extraordinary, belongs the individual honors of the game. This blonde giant was the pivot around which the Argos' play revolved and although he was called upon to bear the burden of the back field work, he always acquitted himself creditably.

The Senators exceeded any former efforts in the game and, after giving of their best for the full thirty minutes, were forced to a defeat at the hands of a superior team.

Regina did not live up to the advance notices, and the locals had a slight edge on the run of the play. The victors suffered heavy penalties for infractions of the rules.

Bays Score Only Win In Saturday's Rugby

Triumphed Over Old Boys By Splendid Team Work; Royal Naval College Sprung Big Surprise By Holding Wanderers to Scoreless Draw; Game Improves a Great Deal.

Wanderers still lead the Victoria Senior Rugby League through their ability to stave off the vigorous attack of the Royal Naval College on Saturday afternoon. The Wanderers failed to score but at the same time they prevented the collegians from getting over. The Bays and Old Boys are tied for second place, having a win and a loss to their credits, while the Naval Boys are in the cellar with one draw and a loss.

Saturday's results in senior rugby were as follows:
J. B. A. A., 14; Old Boys, 0.
Wanderers, 0; Naval College, 0.

Naval Boys Surprise.

There were several surprises in the two matches. The outstanding one was the wonderful showing of the Naval College, against the league leaders. These youngsters showed a spirit and dash which forced the Wanderers to remain on the defensive during the greater part of the game. A lack of weight did not bother the collegians, who used their speed to great advantage.

The other feature of Saturday's match was the fine form shown by the Bays. Last year's champions were in far better shape than on the previous Saturday and the players worked together better.

Bill Ellis Comes Back.

A little while ago a song about Vancouver ruggers sang a song about Bill Ellis, the back who he used to be, but Saturday this same "Old Bill" turned out with the Bays and he showed some class that a lot of the younger fellows just stood around and watched him perform. Bill was responsible for most of the openings which led to the Bays getting over the Old Boys line.

Ellis was a former Vancouver rep player but now resides here and this year he was induced to do some tugs and go on the war-path once more. He is now trying to make a trade of the distance and the opening of the Victoria rep team and if he makes the grade he'll be able to go over and make some of his old friends turn green with envy at the way he has been developed in the Capital.

Bays Had Big Edge.

The Old Boys found the Bays a hard bunch to apply the brakes to and they were constantly on the defensive. Last year's champions did practically all the attacking but found the Old Boys' stubborn on the defense. The University boys had few chances to get away and whenever they did they were pulled down before they got far.

The Bays scored only one touch in the first half, Webster, the former High School star, getting over at the corner. In the second the Bays increased their stride and forced the rest of the distance and the opening for his second try. Then long John Johnson showed the boys something in speed and went half the field before Webster, who made the rest of the distance, saw the line, before any of the Old Boys could get their hands on him. McInnes was credited with converting the try. The Bays last touch came after a fine run by Tommy Heyland.

The teams were as follows:
J. B. A. A.—Boss Johnson, G. McKenzie, A. Webster, A. McInnes, and T. Heyland; E. Lundsten, A. Anderson and B. Ellis; J. Miller, J. Johnson, C. Sanson, B. Montell, G. Norris, J. Dakers, J. McInnes and Cameron.

Naval Boys Missed.

These Naval Boys are going to make a lot of trouble for the leaders in the race before the season is over. They threw a big scare into the Wanderers on Saturday. On the afternoon's play the weavers were entitled to a win as they were time and time again whirling around the Wanderers' backs, only to be fetched up when within a few feet of the desired goal. The boys are the snappiest crew that ever tore up the sod in this city. Their youth and interest is counteracted by their speed and quickness in capitalizing openings. They have a three-quarter named Merry, who is on of the neatest pieces of running machinery seen here for some time. He'll probably be a hot rival for Lou Hunter, the Vancouver fleet three.

The Wanderers were expected to turn in a win over the collegians but they found their match. The game was brilliantly contested and both teams fought like tigers in an effort to get a decision. The final rally of the collegians was one of the most aggressive and spectacular bits of work displayed so far this season.

Despite their great effort the collegians were unable to break through the Wanderers line and the game resulted in a scoreless draw.

The teams were as follows:
Naval College—Full-back, Adams; three-quarters, Edwards, Mitchell, Price and Merry; Half-backs, Beach and Taylor; forwards, Kinch, Hope, Loosmore, Dawson, McDonald, McCormick, Curry and Parker.

Wanderers—H. A. Tomlin; L. H. Wiltshire, H. C. Steele, W. E. Huxtable and D. Johnson; R. G. L. Parker and B. McMillen; J. B. Acland, E. H. Pendray, H. Robinson, S. Hope, church, E. E. N. McCallum, F. A. Herman, J. Blyth and A. Kerr; referee, H. T. S. Hope.

Island registrations at the Strathcona Hotel include: Mr. A. D. Carrington, Duncan; Mr. E. W. Winton, Hillbank; Mr. S. Douglas and Mrs. Douglas, of Cobble Hill; H. S. Green, of Salt Spring Island; R. L. Lachapelle, of Nanose; S. Southern, of Cowichan Lake; Mrs. J. Milligan and John Milligan, of Straley; H. S. Jones and Mrs. Bollo, of Westholme; E. Ashly and Mrs. Ashly, of Duncan, are up-island visitors now at the Dominion Hotel.

The weekly tea dances at the Empress Hotel are proving a popular rendezvous now that the unsettled weather precludes society's indulgence in outdoor sports, and the ballroom and palm court was well filled with dancers and spectators on Saturday afternoon. Among those at the affair were: Mr. and Mrs. Norman, Mr. and Mrs. McEwan and eight guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Brydges with seven guests, Mrs. J. Douglas Hunter, Mrs. Dugald Gillespie, Mrs. Andrew, Mrs. Kingham, Miss Taylor, Miss Mowbray, Miss Little, Dr. Duck, Col. Lister, M. P. P. and Mrs. Lister, Capt. Woods, Mr. Kenneth Raymer and many others.

Over one hundred members and friends were present at the monthly musicale of the Ladies' Musical Club, for which Mrs. Alexander Scott threw open her charming home at St. James Street, Oak Bay, on Saturday afternoon, and a large number of new names were added to the membership roster. The programme of catholic range, prepared by Mrs. S. MacLure, proved of an unusually high standard and included two 'cello numbers by Miss Peggy Scott, with Mrs. Scott at the piano; two songs by Mrs. S. M. Morton, with Mrs. Walker at the piano; Miss Rita Ormiston playing a pianoforte solo; Miss Winifred Bell singing two songs; and Miss Irene Bick contributed violin numbers, Miss Moore accompanying these two groups. An interesting paper on "Classical and Romantic Schools of Music" was read by Mrs. George G. Bushby. The guests were received by the hostess and Mrs. Gideon Hicks, the president. At the close of the programme tea was served in the dining-room, which, in common with the reception rooms, was prettily arranged with autumn flowers and foliage. Mrs. Duncan Campbell and Mrs. Clarence Hoard presided at the tea-table.

Women's Canadian Club—Members of the Women's Canadian Club are reminded that commencing with tomorrow's meeting the ruling will become effective that all members must show their membership ticket in order to obtain admission to the club meetings.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

THE GOBLINS' CIRCLE.

Once in a far-off land there lived a band of Goblins, and once every year on a night when the moon was full these Goblins held a dance in the Goblin Circle.

The Goblin Circle was a round, bare spot in the middle of the woods and on a particular night, called Goblins Night by the magic people, at the full of the moon, any one who entered the circle other than the Goblins was instantly changed from his own shape to that of a little Goblin.

All the Fairies and the Elves and the Piggies and Gnomes and other magic folk on Goblins Night kept far away from Goblin Circle, for none of them wished to become a Goblin.

Now not far away from Goblin Circle lived a lazy fellow named Tim. He did not help his mother, who was a widow, as he should, but instead lay under a tree in the shade all day while his mother worked in the fields or tended the sheep.

But as soon as it was meal time Tim was nimble enough, for he was always hungry, but if he was asked to bring in some wood or draw a pail of water, Tim was slow that his mother often did it herself rather than wait for the slow Tim to bring it.

On one bright moonlight night Tim was coming along the road by the woods when he saw through the trees hundreds of little dancing figures. They were Goblins dancing in the circle and their red caps could be plainly seen as they bobbed about in the moonlight.

"Now, what is that," thought Tim, as he stopped whistling and looked closer. "It looks like those funny creatures I have heard of called Goblins, but I never believed there were any." Nearer and nearer crept Tim until he was close to the Goblin Circle hidden behind a bush on top of a rock. The Goblins' antics were so funny that Tim forgot he was hiding, and when one little Goblin stood on the head of another and jumped with a Marjorie Hulse and Madam Kate Webb, Tim laughed out loud and tumbled off the rock right into the Goblin Circle.

The dance stopped and all the Goblins fell upon Tim and before he knew what was happening, he was no longer a big lazy Tim; he was a little Goblin just like the others.

As there were no more Goblins Tim had to work. They made him jump and dance, they made him roll big rocks and open the doors to their rock houses, and when he was tired they carried him off to their underground homes and set him to work.

Of course, they all worked, too, but to Tim, who had never worked, it seemed there was no time to rest.

How long he stayed with the Goblins he could never tell, but one night when they all came out of the rocks for a dance in the circle, Tim waited until they were busy hopping and jumping and he took to his heels and off he ran.

He was almost home before he noticed that he was again the big Tim. He had lost something to do with having to work so hard for the Goblins.

He stayed away from the Goblin Circle, too, for now he believed in the Goblins and he did not wish to be in their power again, but he did not know that it was a year from the time they caught him that the Goblins let him go.

It was only on the full of the moon on Goblins' Night, when the Goblins dance in the magic circle, that any one can escape if he had been unfortunate enough to be caught in the circle and changed into a Goblin.

So if any one is lazy and will not help his mother, he better be careful not to wander into the Goblin Circle or he will have to work a whole year as hard as Tim did.

RECITAL BY PUPILS SUCCESS

Dominion Academy of Music Presents Programme

The high level reached in developing the gift of music was shown in Friday, when some of the pupils of Madame Webb delighted an enthusiastic audience with a programme of vocal and instrumental selections.

These monthly recitals play an important part in the musical education of the students, giving each an incentive to persevere and inspiring confidence in themselves in public performance.

Thus the beginner, as well as the advanced pupil, acquires and retains an air of composure and naturalness which banishes stage-fright and forms such a pleasing feature of these functions.

It would be prudent to indicate a musical future for little Eva Hilborn, James Bishop and the brothers Leach and Kenneth Clark. Miss Wilhelmina Stewart in her rendering of Liszt's "Impromptu" displayed first rate qualities, both innate and acquired, while Miss Rachel Daniels did not fail to sustain the reputation recently gained as the winner of the highest honor gained in the Dominion in an examination set by the Royal Academy of Music.

A pianoforte duet by little Marjorie Hulke and Madame Kate Webb revealed outstanding genius in the little lady which will doubtless bring fame in the years to come.

Songs by Miss Ellen Bridge and Miss Mollie Wright were well received.

The programme was as follows:

Pianoforte Duets—Curwen, Evelyn Young and R. Daniels. Romance—Kearney, Douglas and R. Daniels. Pianoforte Solos—Buttercup—Miss M. A. Erb Swinging—Newton Swift. Dorothy Quaintance. ## MAIN STREET THE STORY OF CAROL KENNICOTT By SINCLAIR LEWIS

When Carol had walked for thirty-two minutes she had completely covered the town, East and West, North and South; and she stood at the corner of Main Street and Washington Avenue and despaired.

Main Street with its two-story brick shops, its story-and-a-half wooden residences, its muddy expanse from concrete walk to walk, its huddle of Ford and lumber-wagons, was too small to absorb her. The broad, straight, unending gash of the street, streets in the gasping prairie on every side. She realized the vastness and the emptiness of the land. The skeleton iron windmill on the far end of Main Street, was like the ribs of a dead cow. She thought of the coming of the Northern Winter, when the unprotected houses would crouch together in terror of storms galloping out of that wild waste. They were so small and weak, the little brown houses. They were shivering sparrows, not homes for warm laughing people.

She told herself that down the street the leaves were a splendor. The maples were orange; the oaks a solid tint of russet. And the lawns had been nursed with love. But the thought would not hold. At best the trees resembled a thinned woodlot. There was no park to rest the eyes.

And since Gopher Prairie—Buck Wakam was the county-seat, there was no court-house with its grounds. She glanced through the fly-specked windows of the most pretentious building in sight, the one place which welcomed strangers and determined their opinion of the charm and luxury of Gopher Prairie—the Minnie-shie House. It was a tall lean shabby structure, three stories of yellow-streaked wood, the corners covered with sanded pine slabs purporting to be symbolic stone. In the hotel office she could see a stretch of bare unclean floor, a line of rickety chairs with brass cupholders between a writing desk and a typewriter. The dining-room beyond was a jungle of stained table-cloths and catnap bottles.

She looked no more at the Minnie-shie House.

A man in cuffless shirt-sleeves with pink arm-garters, wearing a linen collar but no tie, yawned his way from Dyer's Drug Store across the street. He leaned against the wall of a scratched white, signed, and in a bored way gossiped with a man tilted back in a chair. A lumber-wagon, its long green box filled with large spoils of barbed-wire fencing, creaked down the block. A Ford, in reverse, sounded as though it were shaking to pieces, then recovered and rattled away. In the Greek candy-store was the whine of a peanut-roaster, and the oily smell of nuts. There was no other sound nor sign of life.

She wanted to run, fleeing from the encroaching prairie demanding the security of a great city. Her dreams of creating a beautiful town were ludicrous. Cooing out from every drain wall, she felt a forbidding spirit which she could never conquer.

She trailed down the street on one side, back on the other, glancing into the cross streets. It was a private Seeling Main Street road. "She was within ten minutes beholding not only the heart of a place called Gopher Prairie, but ten thousand towns from Albany to San Diego.

In all the town not one building save the Ionic bank which gave pleasure to Carol's eyes; not a dozen buildings which suggested that, in the fifty years of Gopher Prairie's existence, the citizens had realized that it was either desirable or possible to make this their common home, amusing or attractive.

It was not only the unappealing ugliness and the rigid straightness which bothered her. She hated the plainness, the flimsy temporariness of the buildings, their faded unpleasant colors. The street was cluttered with electric light poles, gasoline pumps for motor cars, boxes of goods. Each man had built with the most valiant disregard of all the others. Between a large new "block" of two-story brick ships on one side, and the fire-brick Overland garage on the other side, was a one-story cottage turned into a millinery shop. The white temple of the Farmers' Bank was elbowed back by a grocery of glaring yellow brick. One store-building had a patchy galvanized iron cornice; the building beside it was covered with battered and pyramidal bricks of brick capped with blocks of red sandstone.

She escaped from Main Street, fled home.

She wouldn't have cared, she insisted, if the people had been comely. She had noted a young man loafing before a shop, one unwashed hand holding the cord of an awning; a middle-aged man who had a way of staring at women as though he had been married too long and too prosaically; an old farmer, solid, wholesome, but not clean—his face like a potato fresh from the earth. None of them had shaven for three days.

"If they can't build shrines, out here on the prairie, surely there's nothing to prevent their buying safety-rasors!" she raged.

She fought herself: "I must be wrong. People do live here. It can't be as ugly as—I know it is! I must be wrong. But I can't do it. I can't go through with it."

She came home too seriously worried for hysteria; and when she found Kennicott waiting for her, and exclaiming, "Have a walk? Well, like the town? Great lawns and trees, eh?" she was able to say, with a self-protective maturity new to her, "It's very interesting."

The train which brought Carol to Gopher Prairie also brought Miss Bea Sorenson.

Miss Bea was a stalwart, corn-colored, laughing young woman, and she was bored by farm-work. She desired the excitement of city-life, and the way to enjoy city-life was, she had decided to go get a job as hired girl in Gopher Prairie. She contentedly lugged her pastboard telescope from the station to her cousin, Tina. Tina, maid of all work in the residence of Mrs. Luke Dawson.

"Well, so you come to town," said Tina.

"Ya. Ay get a job," said Bea.

"Well, you got a fella now?"

"Ya. Yim Jacobson."

"Well, I'm glad to see you. How much you want a week?"

"Six dollar."

"There ain't nobody pay dat. Vait!"

Dr. Kennicott, I think he marry a girl from de Cities. Maybe she pay dat.

"Ya," said Bea.

So it chanced that Carol Kennicott and Bea Sorenson were viewing Main Street at the same time.

Bea had never before been in a town larger than Scandia Crossing, which has sixty-seven inhabitants. A whole new world opened up before her. She meditated that it didn't hardly seem like it was possible there could be so many folks all in one place at the same time. My! It would take years to get acquainted with them all. And swell people, too! A fine big gentleman in a new pink shirt with a diamond, and not no washed-out blue denim working-shirt. A lovely lady in a long dress (but it must be an awful hard dress to wash) And the stores!

Not just three of them, like there were at Scandia Crossing, but more than four whole blocks!

The Bon Ton Store—big as four barns—my! It would simply scare a person to go in there, with seven or eight clerks all looking at you. And the men's suits, on figures just like human. And Axel Egge's, like home, lots of Swedes and Norwikes in there, and a card of dandy buttons, like rubies.

A drug Store with a soda fountain that was just huge, awful-long, and all lovely marble; and on it there was a great big lamp with the biggest shade you ever saw—all different kinds of colors, glass stuck together; and the soda spouts, they were silver, and they came right out of the bottom of the lampstand! Behind the fountain there were glass shelves, and bottles of new kinds of soft drinks, that nobody ever heard of. Suppose a fella took you there!

A hotel, awful high, higher than Oscar Tollefson's new red barn. Three stories, one right on top of another; you had to stick your head back to look clear up to the top. There was a swell traveling man in there—probably been to Chicago, lots of times.

Oh, the dandiest people to know here! There was a lady going by, you wouldn't hardly say she was any older than Bea herself; she wore a dandy new gray suit and black pumps. She almost looked like she was looking over the town, too. But you couldn't tell what she thought. Bea would like to be that way—kind of quiet, so nobody would get fresh. Kind of—oh, elegant.

A Lutheran Church. Here is the city there'd be lovely sermon's, and church twice on Sunday, every Sunday!

And a movie show!

A regular theatre, just for movies. With the sign "Change of bill every evening." Pictures every evening!

There were movies in Scandia Crossing, but only once every two weeks, and it took the Sorenson's an hour to drive in—papa was such a tightwad he wouldn't get a Ford. But here she could put her hat on any evening, and in three minutes' walk be to the movies, and see lovely fellows in dress-suits and Bill Hart and everything.

How could they have so many stores? Why! There was one just for tobacco alone, and one (a lovely one—the Art Shoppy it was) for picture books and vases and things. Oh, the dandiest vase made so it looked just like a tree trunk!

Bea stood on the corner of Main Street and Washington Avenue. The roar of the city began to lighten her. There were five automobiles on the street all at the same time—and one of 'em was a great big car that must cost two thousand dollars—and the bus was starting for a complete overhaul. And what a lot of hat and five elegant-dressed fellows, and a man was pasting up red bills with lovely pictures of washing-machines on them, and the jeweler was laying out bracelets and wrist-watches and everything on real velvet.

What did she care if she got six dollars? Or two! It was worth while working for nothing, to be allowed to stay here. And think how it would be in the evening, all lighted up—and not with no lamps, but with electric! And maybe a gentleman friend taking you to the movies and giving you a strawberry ice cream soda!

Bea trudged back!

"Well? You lak it?" said Tina.

"Ya. Ay lak it—Ay tink maybe Ay stay here," said Bea.

RESCUED FROM PERILOUS ROCK

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Armishaw
Have Thrilling Experience

Launch Wrecked; Cornet
Summons Rescuer

A graphic story is told in The Vancouver Province by J. E. Armishaw, Farmer-Labor candidate in Comox-Alberni, on his arrival in Vancouver. Mr. Armishaw, who is well known here, resides at Sayward and has just escaped with his life while campaigning with his wife in a launch through the islands in the shattered riding.

At Long Bay, Lasqueti Island, lies the battered hulk of the fine forty-eight-foot launch Lebanon. Floating in the sea is the sodden pulp of 24,000 pamphlets of campaign literature of Mr. Armishaw.

Dishevelled, and in the clothing they wore when they were marooned, in a terrific storm upon a dangerous, rock-bound ledge on Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Armishaw arrived in Vancouver about the Princess Patricia from Nanaimo Saturday morning. The candidate's ability to sound military distress signals upon a battered launch, perhaps saved the lives of himself, his wife and their engineer, named Meek. Despite the horrible experience, Mrs. Armishaw, who is bruised severely, calmly announced that although her husband's campaign went literally on the rocks they will both be in the field and active again within a few days despite heavy financial loss and after-effects of exposure.

Struck a Squall.

Mr. and Mrs. Armishaw for the past month have journeyed up and down the East Coast of the Island. Last Thursday at break of day they chugged peacefully out of Parksville. When due off the Balmain Light, a sudden squall and southeast gale struck them with such severity that the powerful boat was hard set to hold her head. There was no chance to progress against the gale and for several hours the pilot had to keep her head-on, afraid to make a turn in either direction because of heavy seas. Tide drifted the vessel toward the west coast of Lasqueti, and as darkness fell Thursday night all available anchors were used to hold the craft secure within Long Bay. At 8:30 o'clock, however, the storm grew to terrific fury. All the "hooks" failed to hold and within a few minutes the occupants of the vessel were horrified to find themselves pounding upon a rock-bound shore.

Mrs. Armishaw was prostrated by sickness, owing to the heavy buffeting throughout the day, and as the rocks were reached, the small vessel heeled to an alarming angle, heavily pounding her hull. When a rock ledge a few feet above the waterline was reached, Mr. Armishaw realized it offered the only chance of escape. Dragging his wife, he dropped overboard, and through terrific combers which made his task an ordeal, managed to drag his wife and himself up where they were joined by the engineer.

Calls for Aid.

On the heights behind the ledge a light was seen, but shouts and calls for aid could not be heard above the storm. Mr. Armishaw remembered that his cornet was aboard, and at great risk returned to the buffeted boat to secure it. On his return to the ledge he called out for aid. Above the waiting of the wind, the booming of gigantic combers and the patter of rain his clear call came. As an ex-soldier he knew the military bugle calls, the "double," the "fire call," the "stand-to" and many others, signifying distress. For almost two hours he blew the cornet, while his frightened wife and the engineer crouched for shelter against the wall of stark rock. He was completely exhausted, with his efforts, when Mrs. Armishaw, who had watched the light in the distance, discovered that it was moving. The three watchers amid breaking waves upon the rock, cried hysterically when they observed that a second light proved to be a lantern, which some person was carrying as a signal that the calls for aid had been heard.

An hour later the marooned party heard a cheery shout of encouragement. A man, who proved to be Lorry Mason, late of the Seventh Battalion, now a farmer, came cautiously clambering down the cliff to their aid. The bugle call, through the wall of the storm, had awakened him from his sleep, and although there was no path or trail from his cabin to the rock ledge, he made one.

Taken to Cabin.

After a severe climb over the sheer face of the bluff, through dense timber and trackless forest, the wreck victims reached the Mason cabin, where fire, food and clothes helped make them more comfortable for the balance of the night.

The following morning, Friday, they descended the cliff, aided by the Cook brothers, also farmers of that section. There, still pounding in the surf, but aloft, was the Lebanon. The surface of the launch was a mass of white pulp, resulting from the release of 24,000 campaign pamphlets, which had been part of Mr. Armishaw's hustling campaign. Mr. Armishaw, bedding, clothes and general paraphernalia also floated broadcast, and Mr. Armishaw said it was "a terrible mess." The kindly farmers secured a number of empty gasoline cans, which they inserted into the hull of the wrecked launch to keep her afloat, offering to put her on the ways and repair the damage to her hull if the wrecked launch would send up enough lumber for the job.

By Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Armishaw had been transported to the hotel at Sayward, near the coast of Vancouver, bereft of everything except the saturated and wrinkled clothing they wore and the cornet.

The loss of belongings and the literary work of ten years of his life, was the fact that he should have been at Courtenay to-day, where an important political convention demanded his presence.

CONSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAY LINK TO START SOON

Canadian Highway Association Approves Action

Any link that may be chosen to complete the highway systems of British Columbia to give direct highway communication from the coast to the prairie provinces will only be the first of a number that will eventually serve this purpose, the Canadian Highway Association feels and therefore, by a resolution adopted by the local body, whatever action may be taken by the Department of Public Works will be approved by the association.

In the Speech from the Throne it was announced that early construction of the necessary link would be undertaken and the association expresses its satisfaction and appreciation of the Government's action in this respect.

Other recommendations which the Canadian Highway Association has made to the Provincial Government respecting roads are as follows:

1. Push to earliest possible completion Cascade-Rossland road, now under construction.
2. Complete surfacing of road over Anarchist Mountain.
3. Improve road from Moyie to Creston.
4. Improve about two miles of Canadian Highway route immediately west of Alberta line.
5. Improve road from Yank to Kingsgate, as this road is one of the most important "feeders" to the Canadian Highway route.
6. Improve Hope-Chilliwack road.
7. Link up existing roads along east side of Kootenay Lake, to some suitable point in vicinity of about opposite Balfour, so as a direct cross-lake ferry can be operated there on a frequent schedule.
8. In addition to the foregoing continue and enlarge upon the present improvement and maintenance policy, across the Province, as conditions and funds will permit.

Information is also asked regarding the rail transfer of motor cars over the Kettle Valley section and the road communication from Brodie to the East.

—A Reuter dispatch from Cape Town says increasing difficulty is being experienced in finding markets for South African maize, the production of which enormously exceeds local requirements. To-day's world prices are below those current in South Africa, and it no longer pays the farmers to produce for export.

Adler-i-ka Again!

"I was bothered with gas on the stomach, belching and general stomach distress. The first bottle of Adler-i-ka gave relief. I feel fine now." (Signed) George Kowalski.

Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing foul matter which poisons stomach. Brings out all poisons, relieving pressure on heart and other organs. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach or sour stomach. Removes a surprising amount of food, clearing matter which you never thought was in your system and which nothing else can dislodge. Prevents appendicitis. Adler-i-ka surprises those who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines. Ives' Pharmacy, corner View and Douglas; Mail and Co., 702 Yates Street. (Adv.)

ENDED LIFE*WITH HIS GUN*Inquest on William Boag Held To-day

Sidney, Oct. 31.—William Boag, long a resident of Sidney, was found dead in his house, and at the coroner's inquest to-day the jury found a verdict of suicide, the body having a gunshot wound in the head. The body was located by Mr. Moody, of Renhaven, who was paying a visit to the house of Mr. Boag, death having taken place apparently some time when the discovery was made. It is understood Mr. Boag had been missing for two or three days from his customary haunts. He had served overseas, and altogether had been a resident of the Sidney district for some fourteen years. He was 50 years of age. Funeral arrangements await the intimation of the wishes of a brother in Alberta.

Car Burns Completely.—A party of local hunters met with misfortune on Saturday afternoon last when their car took fire and burned up, on the Sooke Road, just west of the railway tracks. The car back-fired, twice, and caught fire, the flames getting beyond control. The flames enveloped the car and burned the whole machine down to the tires off the wheels. The party in the excitement of the moment forgot about a shotgun in the rear seat, and left the car at the side of the road all night. When the owners returned in the morning the car had been stripped of the headlights, bulbs, and about all that was left undamaged, and the shotgun was missing. Insurance was carried to some extent, it is stated.

EMPERESS OF RUSSIA
IN FROM ORIENT*C. P. Liner Brought 200
Passengers in the Saloon

Terminating her thirty-ninth inward voyage, the trans-Pacific liner Empress of Russia, of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., reached port at 8.30 o'clock this morning from ports in the Far East. The Empress brought in 200 saloon passengers, 75 second class and a large Asiatic stevedore list.

The Russia failed to encounter the hurricane reported by the Japanese liner Kashima Maru. Fairly good weather was experienced until last night, when the barometer dropped rapidly, Capt. W. Dixon-Hopcraft, stated.

Eng. Lieut. Commander Haast-Smith, R. N., of the Alacrity, private yacht of Admiral Sir Alexander Duff, commander-in-chief of the British Asiatic fleet, was a passenger by the Empress, being en route to England on leave.

H. G. Lowder, who for many years has been commissioner of the Chinese Customs at Canton, accompanied by Mrs. Lowder, was a passenger, bound to England on a vacation for Christmas. Other through passengers were: J. Cochrane, manager of the Canton Insurance Company in Hongkong; R. L. Moncrieff, of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in Shanghai, and A. Bassett, of the British-American Tobacco Company.

Dr. R. B. Teusler, who did great relief work in Russia, was the prominent passenger bound for the United States.

ROCKEFELLER PARTY
RETURN FROM ORIENT*Medical Members of Peking
Mission Passengers by Empress of Russia

Dr. G. E. de Schweinitz, professor of ophthalmology in the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. William Welch, of the Johns Hopkins Medical College, Baltimore; George H. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation; Dr. John G. Clark, professor of gynecology, University of Pennsylvania; John F. Stevens, chairman of the Inter-Allied Technical Board, were notable American passengers on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, in port to-day from the Far East.

The party of medical men accompanied John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to China, and were present at the dedication ceremony of the Union Medical College at Peking, the most important institution of its kind in China, and founded by the Rockefeller Foundation. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is said to be returning to this continent aboard the liner Empress of Asia.

The opening of the Union Medical College was a notable event and the lavish Oriental ceremony was a distinct success, said Dr. G. E. de Schweinitz, speaking for the members of the returning party. "We had a most enjoyable tour through China and were royally entertained throughout the period of our visit." Dr. de Schweinitz has the reputation of being one of the greatest eye specialists in the world.

Disembarked Here.—Dr. Welch and Dr. Vincent disembarked here and took the afternoon boat to Seattle. Dr. de Schweinitz, who went on to Vancouver, was somewhat perturbed over the railroad disorganization as a result of the recent floods. He is anxious to get back to New York without delay, as the demands on his professional services are great.

RETAILERS MAKE
CIVIC SUGGESTION*Report Made to Chamber of Commerce Directors

Retailers consider that the question of municipal form of government should be a live issue in the discussion of the Chamber of Commerce forum.

Another matter that causes an annual discussion is the grant to the Victoria and Island Development Association, and the retailers consider that this grant should be a matter for the public to decide by way of a plebiscite.

For this reason the Publicity Commissioner should be asked to prepare a detailed report on the Development Association and its work so that the public will properly understand what the city is getting in return for the grant made to the association.

The above points were emphasized in a report of the recent meeting of the Retailers made to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. James Forman was elected to the board of directors in place of A. C. Flumerfelt, who has resigned, as he will be absent from the city for some time.

There was considerable discussion to the effect that by co-operation between the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council a great deal of good work could be accomplished.

J. L. Beckwith claimed that a keener sense of public interest in civic affairs would be a good thing for the city, and Alderman Todd referred to a number of subjects on which the Chamber of Commerce might render assistance to the City Council, which, he said, was a very efficient organization, and was entitled to all the support that could be given it.

Hulk of Fukui Maru
May Still Be Afloat*R. M. S. Empress of Russia Intercepted All Radio
Messages Leading Up to Rescue of Crew By S. S.
West Ivan; Menace to Navigation Reported.

That the Japanese freighter Fukui Maru may still be afloat and a menace to navigation was indicated in a radio message picked up by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia from Captain Pearson, master of the U. S. Shipping Board freighter West Ivan, the vessel which saved the entire crew of the sinking Japanese ship.

The following message was picked up by the chief radio operator of the Empress of Russia at 6.45 p.m., October 27, when the Fukui Maru, after her crew had been transferred to safety, is reported to have foundered:

"Men of Fukui Maru on board West Ivan. Position of abandoned ship, lat. 52.29 N., long. 155.38 W. Please notify all stations of menace to navigation, Pearson."

The Fukui Maru sprang a leak in her forepeak on October 24 and was proceeding to Dutch Harbor to effect repairs, but the leak increased to such an extent that it was decided to abandon the ship.

When the sinking Fukui Maru sent out her S. O. S., the liner Empress of Russia, Capt. W. Dixon-Hopcraft, R. N., inbound from Yokohama for Victoria, was 450 miles away from the scene. The S. S. West Ivan was 22 miles away, and the S. S. Bessie Dollar, was 84 miles distant.

All the wireless messages were intercepted by the Empress of Russia. At 9.35 a.m., October 27, the S. O. S. was intercepted by the Russia's wireless. "Assistance needed quickly. Position lat. 52.25 N., long. 156.20 W."

At 9.50 the West Ivan's operator said: "We are proceeding to your assistance. Are 20 miles distant."

The Dollar Line freighter Bessie Dollar, at 9.52 a.m. spoke: "Am proceeding to assistance of Fukui Maru." Capt. Kerr of the Bessie Dollar, by this time had learned that the West Ivan was close to the sinking ship, and at 10.15 he wirelessed Capt. Pearson of the West Ivan as follows: "As you are nearer, I am proceeding to assist. Something further transpired. Good Luck."

West Ivan to Fukui Maru: "Coming at full speed. Inform me of once of position."

Fukui Maru to West Ivan: "Want to save crew. Am now abandoning ship."

Fukui Maru to West Ivan, noon: "Cannot read your radio. Use flag signals."

By this time the Fukui Maru was in sight of the West Ivan and at 1 o'clock Capt. Pearson wirelessed: "Send crew aboard." Apparently the Japanese left the sinking ship in their own boats and battled against the heavy seas in their effort to reach the side of the approaching West Ivan.

One of the last messages intercepted by the Empress of Russia stated that the Fukui Maru had been abandoned in lat. 52.29 N., long. 155.38 W.

SEES BIG FUTURE FOR TRADE BETWEEN CANADA AND JAPAN*Dr. Takuma Dan Speaks of Objects of Japanese Businessmen's Trade Mission*Understanding in Trade, Basis for Universal Peace, He Declares

"I am convinced there is a great future for trade between Canada and Japan," said Dr. Takuma Dan, leader of the Japanese businessmen's mission to America and the United Kingdom, who arrived here to-day aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia.

Dr. Dan, who is a specialist in the raw and manufactured products of Canada in Japan, and on the other hand there should be a market in this country for the manufactures of Japan.

Seeking Knowledge.—"We are here to secure knowledge of the business methods of the countries we propose to visit, and, if possible, arrive at a better understanding that will lead to closer co-operation in the establishment of international trade."

The object of our mission is to exchange views and to give and receive such information as to business methods and policy as will render more practical and efficient whatever mutual endeavors in the sphere of co-operative undertaking may arise in future.

"It is felt that the want of a clear understanding of each other in business operations, which is being experienced in Japan, will be found to have its counterpart in other countries, and that a careful statement and discussion of the essentials involved will lead to a clear mutual understanding and an improvement of business generally."

Basis for Universal Peace.—"A complete understanding in trade between the nations is a good basis for universal peace," added Dr. Dan. "Dr. Takuma Dan is managing director of the combined Mitsui interests, and is a powerful factor in the Japanese business world."

Twenty-three members of the mission, all prominent business men of Japan, accompanied by secretaries, reached here on Saturday, the N. Y. K. liner Kashima Maru. Dr. Dan was slightly indisposed when the Kashima Maru sailed from Yokohama and remained over until the sailing of the Empress of Russia.

The business mission, he explained, will be split up into parties and will visit the larger trade centres of the United States and Canada, if time permits. In December the Japanese trade mission will set sail from New York for the United Kingdom.

Hopes of Mission.—"By the time our mission is concluded," said Dr. Dan, "we expect to have cemented a better understanding. 'Fifty years ago, Japan threw open her doors to the trade of the world, and although we have accomplished much in that period, there is a great deal of misunderstanding to be cleared up, and we hope to accomplish something in this way.'"

"Distrust among nations makes trade impossible. Distrust among nations is also the cause of war. 'Establish a close understanding between the nations of the world and universal peace is assured.'"

An ample feast was served by the officers of the Pack which the thirty odd boys present caused to disappear at a really alarming rate. J. S. Drummond, P. G. D. G. M. It was believed that Bro. Fawcett, who was installed as R. S. S., and Bro. E. Levy of this city, who was installed as L. S. S., are the only survivors of all the officers who were installed into office that night. Bro. Fawcett is next to the oldest member of the lodge, having been initiated on December 21, 1868. At the meeting last Monday evening two members were advanced to the Second Degree. This evening the meeting will be of a special character, for white preparations are being made, and in which all the members are invited to participate.

It is anticipated that the list of householders will include about 2,000 names when registration ceases to-day.

Thirty-five building permits were issued during October as compared to the twenty-three permits issued in October, 1920.

Up to noon to-day 335 building permits had been issued this year. These represented an expenditure of $662,551. Up to this time last year 365 permits, representing an expenditure of $589,167, had been issued. Thus during the first ten months of this year building has increased by $73,386 over the operations of 1920 for a similar period.

This week promises to be a week of great gaiety. Invitations have been issued for a number of private house parties, and Thursday evening has been set aside for the annual J. B. A. A. dance. The number of parties has not in any way lessened the demand for invitations for the major event of the week. The oarsmen have the reputation of being excellent hosts and their friends are determined to take advantage of Thursday evening to enjoy their hospitality. The rowing boys have had an energetic committee working for the past five weeks preparing for the big event. No detail has been overlooked. Prof. Heaton has promised an irresistible programme of dance music, the catering is in able hands, and the Alexandra ball room is to be converted into a wonderland of beauty.

No Farmer Party.—The time is not ripe for the United Farmers of British Columbia to get into politics and such pitfalls should be avoided for at least a number of years. J. J. SAYS ONE-MAN CARS WILL NOT ADD TO UNEMPLOYMENT
Manager Goward Tells Gyros All Men Will Be Cared for This Winter
"There is one unfortunate thing in connection with the introduction of the one-man safety cars in Victoria, and that is the unemployment which will result. Many good men will have to be dispensed with. We realize that there will be serious unemployment this winter but we have decided that we will not lay our men off, so that they will not in any way increase the unemployment problem. All the men will be properly cared for during the winter."
This important announcement was made by A. T. Goward, local manager of the B. C. Electric Railway in an address before the Gyro Club at its luncheon on Monday.

Advocate One-Man Cars.
Mr. Goward thoroughly discussed the one-man car problem, quoting statements from the heads of the leading street car companies in Canada and the United States to the effect that the margin of safety was greater with one-man cars than with two-man control, that there was no interruption or delays in the service and that the public was thoroughly satisfied with the new order of things.
Mr. Goward defended the company's action in introducing the safety cars, stating that it was absolutely necessary in order that past deficits might be avoided in the future. He pointed out that the company has three million dollars invested in the local street car system and that during the first six months of the year it lost $13,000 which combined with the interest which must be provided, meant a loss this year of $175,000.
"If you are in business, and you find that you are losing money there are only two ways in which you can overcome your trouble," remarked Mr. Goward. "One is by increasing the cost of your product, and the other is to reduce the cost of operation. A public utility is a semi-public body which is endeavoring to give service to everybody. There would be great objection to the company's increasing the fare, when one recalls the amount of trouble there was in getting the six-cent fare. The other course, therefore, is open to us, that of reducing our operating expenses. In deciding on this course we decided to discuss the matter in public and give the citizens an opportunity of expressing their views. I think that if a company can get along by reducing its operating expenses instead of increasing the cost of its product it should do so."
Mr. Goward told of his trip to Spokane and Alberta cities, where he personally investigated the one-man car system from the standpoint of the operating company, the employee and the traveling public.
"The leading citizens in these towns told me that they were perfectly satisfied," stated Mr. Goward. "The motorman said he liked it better because he had more to do and the time passed more quickly, and that he had no desire to go back to the two-man cars."
Mr. Goward roughly described the method of operation of one-man cars, and showed how step-by-step accidents were entirely eliminated by the safety cars.
"My honest opinion is," he remarked, "that within a few years there will not be any two-man cars operating, except in crowded areas in the largest cities. If one man can do the work of two men on a street car I think that the change should be made."

ACROSS THE BAY
Bowser Speaking.
W. J. Bowser, K. C., leader of the Opposition, is speaking this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce.
According to his plans when he arose to speak he is again dealing with the liquor administration.

Mr. Bowser said to-day that he has not yet decided whether he will amend his resolution proposing an inquiry into the liquor operations in the Chamber of Commerce. The Board took charge to bring the resolution up to what the House demanded Friday night when it voted that he should make his "charges" definite.

Mr. Jones After Hallwright.
J. W. Jones, of South Okanagan, is the member of the Legislature who is asking questions on the floor of the House about H. E. Hallwright's motor car, his activities and the examples of school gardens which he is setting before the children of the district. Mr. Hallwright is agricultural supervisor in schools.

Mr. R. H. Pooley, of Esquimalt, is not bringing up anything about Mr. Hallwright.
Mr. Mackenzie, on the motion of Premier Oliver, is being added to the private bills committee.

Mr. Fraser's Name Up.
Sam Guthrie is asking the Attorney-General to tell the House about William G. Fraser, who has been appointed liquor vendor at Lad-smith. He wants to know on whose recommendation Mr. Fraser was appointed and what returned soldiers applied for the job.

Where Did Guns Go?
R. H. Pooley, of Esquimalt, wants to know about the guns and other firearms confiscated by the Game Conservation Board, on what authority they were confiscated, and where these guns are now, how many have been sold and under what circumstances and to what account the credits from these sales have been placed.

PREMIER EXPRESSES HIS SYMPATHY: GIVES FIGURES
Sympathy with the relatives of those who lost their lives in the Britannia flood was expressed by Premier Oliver. A telegram he read gave these as the latest figures: 14 bodies recovered, 23 or 24 still missing. Injured in Vancouver General Hospital, 2 injured at homes of relatives, a number of those who suffered minor injuries being cared for at Britannia Beach.

STRIKES IN AUSTRALIA.
London, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Cable)—A letter cable from Melbourne says statistics furnished by the Australian Government show that workers lost £1,250,000 last year in wages through 554 industrial strikes.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS
Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—The local wheat market opened firm to-day and remained steady during the first two hours, after which some good buying of November developed by seaboard connections with the result that the market responded by a rally. It is expected that this rally will be maintained in the future. This was strength generally, which was maintained by the close, when some reaction occurred.
The cash wheat market was about unchanged from Saturday and spreads were about the same. There was a fair demand for No. 3 Northern, but outside of this the demand was very ordinary.
The oats market was showing a better tone and prices were 2 to 3 Nov. higher. There was very little change in the other coarse grains.
Inspection tallied 2,655 cars, of which 1,814 were contract wheat.

WOLF DOG AS

Provides Thrills at Royal in J.
O. Curwood's Story
"Kazan"

A classic of the picturesque north-land with its snow and forest-clad hills, its romance and its adventure, its mystery and charm, is the screen version of James Oliver Curwood's delightful story, "Kazan," which opened an engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-day.

The spirit of this tale of the great pack-dog "Kazan," who becomes the enemy of all mankind following the murder of his master and who joins a wolf pack and becomes its leader, has been admirably caught. Even the savage Kazan is amenable to kindness, and he never forgets the act of the young woman who befriended him and gave him his freedom. When he comes upon this same young woman and her male companion while heading a hungry wolf pack, he turns on the wolves and fights them off in one of the most thrilling scenes ever screened. Again Kazan the Killer comes to her rescue when an intruder attacks the helpless girl in a lonely cabin. A third time he fights for her and wrecks a terrible revenge on the slayer of his master, Jim Radisson of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

AMUSEMENTS TO-DAY

The loyalty and faithfulness of "Kazan" to his blind wolf mate, who are always seen travelling together, two by two, set an example which Joan Radisson and Jim Thorpe try to emulate. The story teaches a great moral lesson from Nature to mankind. It is like a fresh breath of balsam laden air from the whole-some country of the far north.

Jane Novak, as Joan Radisson, has the leading feminine role and her work even surpasses her admirable characterization in Marshall Neilan's production of "The River's End," also a James Oliver Curwood story. Opposite Jane Novak in the leading male part is Ben Deely, whose interpretation of the role of Jim Thorpe is a triumph of acting. His portrayal of the part of a man who has become snowblind and who in spite of this handicap outwits the con-scienceless "Black" McCready, bent on making the girl Joan his prey, is splendid and convincing. Other members of the cast are William Ryne, Ben Haggerty and Edwin Wallock.

This remarkable production, with its wonderful photography, use of wild animals and dog teams, was directed by Bertram Bracken, who recently directed Anita Stewart in a splendid vehicle, "Harriet and The Piper." "Kazan" is a William M. Selig production, and it was filmed in one of the most picturesque portions of the Canadian Northwest. The settings are for the most part nature's, which means that they could hardly be improved upon by man.

Miss Ivy Holt, who created such favorable impression on her first appearance in Victoria last week, will again no doubt please with two new songs, "Out Where the West Begins" and "Stolen Kisses." With a good comedy and a scenic rest of the programme is of the same high-class order.

FILM MONTE CARLO IN "CAMILLE" SCENE

Dominion Screen

Probably no spot of world-wide interest ever has been more faithfully reproduced for film purposes than the interior of the famous Casino at Monte Carlo for Nazimova's production of "Camille," a Metro picture now at the Dominion Theatre.

In addition to the construction of the complete Casino on one of the big enclosed stages at Metro's Hollywood studios, the entire movie colony was combed for the picturesque types to be seen in the action depicted within its walls. For this purpose more than five hundred men and women, some of whom never before had worked before a camera, were selected by Nazimova and her director, Ray Smallwood.

The army of tourists who inhabit Los Angeles during the winter months, the movie colony and the wealthy residents of the resort towns about Los Angeles were called upon to furnish their contributions to the lists of those who participated in the production.

Not only the glamour of the famous gaming house, but the tragedies of its frequenters, the sidelights of comedy among the attendants, and the fascinating flashes that characterize all of the gifted Nazimova's productions, are seen in this phase of the story of "Camille."

Natacha Rambova, the young artist who designed the unique features of the "Camille" bouillabaisse, also designed the Casino sets. Miss Rambova made use of photographic reproductions of the interior and exterior of the temple of chance for the making of the picture, overlooking no detail that would add realism to the picture. Ray C. Smallwood was director, Rudolph J. Bergquist, photographer, and Joseph Calder, technical director. June Mathis made the adaptation.

Will Be Seen at Capitol in Ex-acting Role

Miss Mildred Manning who plays the role of Sheila Hopkins in Maurice Tourneur's super-drama, "The Foolish Matrons," now playing at the Capitol Theatre, is a member of one of the oldest families in the United States. Born in Milford, Penn., her family are members of the Mayflower Association composed of descendants of those brave pioneers who landed at Plymouth Rock in 1620, and to that exclusive society known as the Boston Tea Party. One of her forefathers was a member of Lincoln's Cabinet. One was Surgeon General of Cavalry of the Army of the Potomac. Three were Ambassadors to foreign countries and several were Governors of states.

Miss Manning had theatrical inclinations at an early age and like most youngsters of her bent, she performed in amateur plays. Then, with the conquering spirit of her ancestors, she decided to evade Broadway.

Her first professional engagement was far from being spectacular. She was cast for a small "Bit" in a New York musical comedy. It was a beginning, however, and before long she appeared prominently in the support of Eddie Foy in "Over the River." Later she appeared as "Fifine" in "Oh! Oh! Delphine." It was while she was delighting audiences in this production that she attracted the attention of D. W. Griffith, who engaged her to pose for motion pictures at the old Biograph studio. After several months with that eminent director she was turned to the musical comedy stage to appear at the New York Winter Garden.

Again returning to pictures she signed a contract with Pathe and was selected by that organization to appear in the leading feminine role of their series of O. Henry stories, which won for her a host of friends the world over.

"RIDER OF THE KING LOG" HERE

Variety Presents Red Blood
Timber Story

A visualization by Holman Day of his own novel, this is the most authoritative picture of the North Woods, and the life of the great logging industry, ever made. It is a story of Maine—that beautiful land of hills, rushing waters and giant trees.

There the Timber Barons of Wall Street tried to have their way with a rugged son of the forest—old X. K., the rider of the king log. He died, his daughter took up the battle that was waged with the mighty forces of Nature as its weapons.

"The Rider of the King Log" has the parent love of "Humoresque," the strength of "The Barrier," and a dramatic power that belongs to itself alone. It is a genuine picture, made by a genuine man, with two thousand genuine Maine lumbermen, and it takes its place among the genuine productions of a great screen age. It is right there with a score of punches and a "knock-out."

REAL, INTENSE DRAMA AT PRINCESS

Two Love Stories in "The Marriage Question"

"The Marriage Question" is the play to be produced by the Mildred Page Players and it is real, intense, enthralling.

There are two love stories, some big moments, and some of the greatest situations ever seen in any play in "The Marriage Question." Miss Page has another beautiful part, and, in fact, every member of the company will be seen at his or her best.

"The Marriage Question" is not a lecture or anything dry or preaching as one might suppose from the title. It is a real show with a kick in it, and in the hands of real artists it cannot help but more than meet with the approval of all who attend.

"The Marriage Question" will begin Wednesday night, and continue four nights, with the usual Saturday matinee.

Kiddies, how about those guesses? The time grows long, and the prize has grown to a goodly size. Don't neglect, that might be the right guess after all.

BRITISH TRADE IS STEADILY GROWING

evening at 8 o'clock in the downstairs schoolroom.

Some weeks ago the Saanich members of the society challenged the Victoria members to a rivalry concert, each side to give an hour's programme. Both sides have been practising steadily for the last few weeks and an exceptionally fine programme will be given. The nature of the programme is being kept secret, as each side is hoping to put on some entirely new features.

The audience will be given a chance to vote at the conclusion of the concert regarding which of the programmes they enjoyed more. Both sides are confident of victory, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance to witness the contest.

Another remarkable movie stunt is that of providing the cash for a family of five to attend every night.

An official review of the trend of British export trade in the first six months of the years 1914 and 1921 discloses that aside from decrease in exports to Russia and to Germany, the percentages of exports to various countries have been maintained during 1921 as compared to 1914, and in many cases have been increased.

The detailed figures, as compiled by the British Board of Trade and just received by the Bankers Trust Company, of New York, from its English Information Service, indicate that in the first six months of 1921 British exports to Europe represented 34.1 per cent of the total exports while in 1920 the percentage was 29.7 per cent. However, as there was a decrease equivalent to 3.2 per cent of total British exports, in the exports going to Russia, and to 5.4 per cent of the total, in the percentage going to Germany, the percentage of British exports to other European countries really represented an increase in 1921.

In filming the new special production "The Prodigal Judge," Vitagraph accomplished what the expert fishermen of the St. Lawrence River hitherto have refused to undertake—the sending of a small craft with passengers through the dangerous Cedar Rapids on that historical river. Rafts have been sent through, but without a guiding hand, and small boats have avoided its turbulent waters by taking a circuitous route. The story of "The Prodigal Judge," by Vaughan Kester required that a small keel boat and a double cabin raft of the type used on the Mississippi in 1855 pass through just such rapids. Jean Paige who heads the all-star cast of "The Prodigal Judge" made the exciting trip with out mishap.

FIRST POST

Most people regard the post as a modern institution; yet this is not so, for regular postal services have existed for more than two thousand years.

One of the earliest systems for the delivery of letters was established by Persia more than five centuries before the Christian era.

In those days letters were not written on paper. They took the form of short sticks, on which a message was inscribed either by means of paints or by burning it on with a kind of primitive poker-work outfit. These letters were delivered by regular relays of postmen over thousands of miles of country.

Even the telegraph was in use in a crude form. Messages could be sent in an hour or two over distances of hundreds of miles by means of a system of shutters, who passed them on from one to the other.—Tit-Bits.

CURIOUS CHINESE CURES.

In China the art of healing is still based on faith and superstition. To the Chinaman evil spirits play a great part in all illnesses. The earth is supposed to be full of evil spirits ready to pounce upon the unwary whenever they see an opportunity.

Should a child be ill, it is believed that the soul has left the body. It must be called back before the child can recover. Calling for the return of the soul is a custom prevalent in all parts of China.

Fishes' Head for Headaches.

It is also the custom to pray for holy medicine. A patient must pay a visit to the temple and take from the altar a tube containing numbered sticks. He passes the tube over the incense several times until one of the sticks falls out. This is picked up and the number on it is read. A corresponding slip containing a prescription is then handed to him.

As a treatment for apoplexy, serpents' liver is surely unique, but this is prescribed by the best Chinese doctors. Pigs' feet and deers' tendons are prescribed for weak legs, and fishes' heads for headache and giddiness.

Human flesh is supposed to be efficacious in the case of certain illnesses, and young people will have pieces of the purest and best of medicine for a sick father—Titt-Bitts.

MAYOR GETS FIRST
CITY ORDINANCESTwo Relics of the Past Framed at City Hall

Copies of two Victoria By-Laws drawn up in 1862 and printed in the plant of The Victoria Chronicle have been presented to Mayor Porter by William Burnes, of the Customs Department. The old ordinances relate to public nuisances and the construction of wooden sidewalks. They are now adorning the walls of the Mayor's office. It is said that the by-laws were the first printed here. They bear the signature of the first Mayor of Victoria, Thomas Harris. The measures are as follows:

Ordinance on Nuisances.

We, the Mayor and Councilors in Council convened by virtue of the power and authority vested in us by an Act entitled "An Act to Incorporate the City of Victoria," passed the second day of August, A.D. 1862, and in the twenty-sixth year of the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria; and whereas, it is expedient for the good government of the city,

Sec. 1. Therefore be it ordained, that from and after the passing of this ordinance, no slaughter-house, tannery, distillery, or other offensive trade or occupation, shall be conducted in any premises situated within the limits of the said city, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 2. That no person shall ride or drive through the public streets at a pace exceeding eight miles per hour, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 3. No person shall lead or drive any horse or cattle on any sidewalk or footpath not proper therefor, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 4. All pigs and goats found at large within the city limits shall be deemed a nuisance, and impounded, and the owner shall forfeit for each and every offense a sum not exceeding one pound sterling, and in default of payment of the said penalty, the pigs and goats so impounded shall, after the expiration of seven days, be sold by order of the presiding officer.

Guns and Fireworks.

Sec. 5. No person shall wantonly fire or set off, or discharge, any guns, pistols, cannons, squibs, crackers, or fireworks of any kind or description, nor shall wear or carry on the person any loaded firearms or dangerous weapons about the person within the city limits, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds sterling for each offense.

Sec. 6. No person shall interrupt any of the footpaths or sidewalks by placing thereon any boxes, bales, barrels, merchandise, or articles of any description, beyond a period of six hours, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 7. During the erection or repair of buildings no person shall occupy more than one-third of the width of the street, or fail to put up a fence round the works, and keep lights burning at night in the street near such buildings, under a penalty not exceeding five pounds sterling for each offense.

Sec. 8. No person shall throw or deposit on any of the footpaths, sidewalks, highways, thoroughfares, or any public place within the city limits, any rubbish, filth, ashes, or offal of any kind, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 9. No person or persons shall interrupt any highway or public thoroughfare within the city limits, by erecting thereon any fence, building, barricade, or obstruction of any nature or kind, under a penalty not exceeding ten pounds sterling for each offense.

No Rubbish in Harbor.

Sec. 10. No person shall be allowed to dump ashes, dirt, rubbish, stones, or filth, of any kind whatsoever, into the harbor, under a penalty, for the first offense, a sum not exceeding five pounds sterling; for the second offense to be fined or imprisoned at the option of the Mayor or presiding officer.

Sec. 11. Every person who in any thoroughfare or shall beat or shake any carpet, rug, or mat, except door-mats, after the hour of eight in the morning, or throw or lay any dirt, filth, or rubbish, or throw, or cause any such thing to go into any sewer, pipe, or drain, or into any well, stream, or water course, or the same in such a position that it may run into the harbor, or any pond or reservoir for water; or cause any offensive matter to run from any manufactory, brewery, slaughter-house, butcher shop, or dung-hill, or any uncovered place, whether or not surrounded by a wall or fence. Every person who shall empty, or begin to empty, any privy within the hours of six in the morning and twelve at night, and who shall move, along any thoroughfare, any night-soil, soap-lees, ammoniacal liquor, or other such offensive matter, between the hours of six in the morning and eight in the evening, and who shall at any time use for such purpose any cart or carriage not having a proper covering, or who shall wilfully or carelessly slop or spill any such offensive matter in the removal thereof, or who shall not carefully sweep or clean away such place in which any such offensive matter shall have been placed, spilled, or slopped; and in default of the apprehension of the actual offender, the owner of the cart or carriage employed for any such purpose shall be deemed to be the offender.

Sec. 12. No person shall injure any highway or public thoroughfare by running large bodies of water on to the same, so as to interrupt the travel thereon, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense.

Sec. 13. No person shall sink any privy, vault, or cesspool nearer than two feet to his neighbor's premises, and not less than twenty feet from the street, under a penalty not exceeding one pound sterling for each offense, and to be compelled to abate the nuisance under such penalty as the Mayor or presiding officer may direct.

Alexander Dumas' Masterpiece

In a Parisian Gambling House, accompanied by a titled nobleman, Armand found Camille, who had been persuaded by his father to desert him. With happiness in her grasp, she remained true to her trust, refusing to yield to the dictates of her heart. What her choice brought about is grippingly portrayed in "Camille."

Her beauty and charm dazzled; she was queen of the demi-monde. Little knew she that the fates would play her a trick, bring her to depths of poverty and neglect. Don't fail to see Nazimova interpret Marguerite in "Camille."

She was a notorious and beautiful woman, a part of the gay life of Paris. When she fell in love with the young law student she gave up her old life and friends and then made the crowning sacrifice of all. What that was is dramatically pictured by the great Nazimova in her Metro version of "Camille."

Far from the madding crowd! They loved each other; they thought they would be happy in pastoral bliss, away from the glitter and gaiety of gaudy Paris. And then—See the wonderful Nazimova in "Camille."

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and clearly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. ### AMALGAMATION OF EX-SERVICE MEN.

To the Editor:—A meeting of the ex-service men who have signed our form, pledging themselves to support an amalgamated body, will be held in Trades Hall, Broad Street, on Friday evening, November 4, at 8 o'clock.

At that gathering recommendations will be made, and a report from the Provincial Committee will be rendered outlining the work of the committee during the last few weeks. It is also hoped to hear short reports from G. W. V. A. and A. and N. conventions, giving the decisions of the Dominion commands of these associations.

If the recommendations of our committee are adopted on Friday evening, an amalgamated body will come into being, which we think will benefit the ex-service men as a whole and open up a new era so far as the ex-service movement is concerned.

Up to date about 1,050 forms have been signed in favor of an immediate amalgamation and the committee has been considerably encouraged by the promise of support received from ex-service men all over Vancouver Island and in many cases, forms have been received from men resident on the Mainland.

To those who have signed the forms I would thank for their support and assistance, to those who have not yet signed, but who are in favor of amalgamation, I would ask them to sign a form before next Friday and so be in a position to take part in the meeting on that evening. To the others who are opposed to amalgamation, or who are wavering as to whether they should support it or not, I would make an earnest appeal to come in and join us and exhibit that true spirit of manhood which they did in the service, viz., to help others who are not in a position to help themselves.

Chairman, Provisional Ex-Service Amalgamation Committee.
P. O. Box 955, Victoria, B. C., Oct. 31, 1921.

ESPERANTO.

To the Editor:—The peculiar propaganda in which the few zealous Esperantists find an outlet for their enthusiasm is exemplified by the letter in last Saturday's Times, in which a correspondent quotes The Storm-Lake Pilot-Tribune to the effect that somebody somewhere has found Esperanto useful. Undoubtedly it has been learned and spoken by groups of people here and there at one time and another. It is then usually forgotten. Before the war, persons of a supposedly idealistic frame of mind and with an inclination to travel gathered occasionally in European centres and held a resurrection of Esperanto. The delegates, who are reputed to have worn green trousers, dabbled in many side-lines, such as a German-led peace propaganda, but the piece de resistance of their conventions was to hear "Hamlet" mutilated into Esperanto. On this they invariably waxed enthusiastic.

Esperanto has been superseded, but it dies hard. A number of the most eminent philologists in the world some years ago decided that Zamenhof's uncompromising attitude towards the improvement of his synthetic language must eventually prove fatal. So they set out to construct a language more in accordance with the needs of western peoples, and, while accepting the main roots of Esperanto as a basis, they reduced the preponderance of eastern (particularly Russian) forms. They did not pretend, as did Zamenhof, that the result of their work should be regarded as absolute and immutable.

The result is the new language, Ido, which is now being taught in all countries, and has a larger number of speakers than Esperanto ever had. The most notable difference between the two languages is that in Ido the words have a fairer proportion of Latin roots. Latin being the basis of French, Spanish, Portuguese and Italian, and much of English, it is only reasonable, in choosing a common speech, that the people of western Europe and of the New World should prefer a somewhat latinized structure. German, Scandinavian, and Russian words are there, too, but they are not incorporated in such a way as to spoil the smooth-running Italian-like character of Ido's words. We do not find, in Ido, any letters that cannot be printed in unaccented type; nor such a disproportion of guttural sounds and ugly terminations (such as "-oj") as exists in the so-called immutable language. But perhaps the elimination of the accusative case, to which Zamenhof so stubbornly and inexcusably adhered, is the most notable point of difference.

It is regrettable if any of your readers should be led to spend their good time acquiring proficiency in a language that is fast retiring into the obscurity of obsolescence. If they have a desire to learn something of a real international language—a language that is really alive and not stillborn—they may obtain all information of Ido by writing to Mr. Warren Baxter, Secretary of the British Idiotic Society, 47 Limes Grove, Lewisham, London, S. E. But those that have made up their mind and cannot alter it (even as Dr. Zamenhof himself), will not trouble to investigate. Flattered by the distinction of being called "delegates" to the periodical resurrections, they will go on believing in the queer cult that surrounds Esperanto with an unsavory German flavor, and even if I were to quote The Bull Creek Post-Intelligencer to their confusion it would not shake their belief.

IDIST.
Victoria, B. C., October 24, 1921.

CITY TENNIS COURTS.

To the Editor:—I read with great pleasure in your paper of 25th inst. a letter signed "Tennis Player," advocating more tennis courts in Stadacona Park. That is an excellent idea. Victoria claims to be a health resort, and so it behooves the community to provide the means of "out door sport" in an inexpensive manner. There are also other suitable sites for tennis courts, such as Beacon Hill Park and North Ward Park. If grass courts were not found suitable, then clay courts could easily be made.

While on the theme of "out door recreation," might I say that we should have municipal golf links. Golf is one of the great drawing cards for those who come here to retire and for those who come here on holidays, and if municipal golf links are constructed it need not be any more expensive for anyone, than any other outside recreation. I believe that if the proposal were again put up to the ratepayers it would be passed, many who previously voted against it, now realizing that it would be a great asset and a paying proposition for this community. The number of golfers is increasing so rapidly that although a new course is being opened next Spring, I venture to say that it will be practically impossible to join a golf club then, without allowing one's name to go on a waiting list. If Victoria is fortunate in adding municipal golf links to her attractions, many who would hesitate to join a club could by paying a small sum be enabled to play a round at golf. Let us start and get a nine-hole course ready now. GOLFER.

COUNCIL BACKS UP MAYOR HUFF

Formal Recital of Alberni's Case for Disincorporation

Accompanying is a resolution of the Alberni City Council, passed October 26 and carried unanimously, on the question of incorporation:

"Whereas certain telegrams or communications have been dispatched to the Hon. John Oliver, Premier of the Province, signed by C. F. Bishop, president, and E. M. Whyte, secretary, and purporting to be on behalf of the executive committee of the Alberni Board of Trade, and which telegrams or communications, particularly those dated October 14 and October 15, in lieu of definite charges, contain insinuations against the honor of the Mayor and those associated with him in the matter of the disincorporation of the City of Alberni;

States Council's Case.

"Be it resolved, that this Municipal Council of the City of Alberni, the sworn representatives of the ratepayers, and with full knowledge of the facts, declare as follows:

"1. The Alberni Board of Trade is a minor organization, nonofficial in character with a membership representing only a small portion of the resident population—a portion of which membership is not registered on the city's voters' list. The Council are persuaded that the communications referred to do not however, represent the opinion or wish of the Board of Trade as a body.

"2. The movement for the disincorporation of the City of Alberni was with the knowledge and consent of the Council, who voted public moneys for that purpose.

"3. The petition for disincorporation has been signed by over two-thirds of those qualified to sign, representing an interest of the whole assessed value of property in the municipality upon which a vote can be taken.

With Authority.

"4. In the presentation of the petition to the Government, and in the negotiations looking toward the actual disincorporation of the municipality, the Mayor has acted with authority of the Council, under actual resolution thereof, conveyed to the Government by the clerk in the form of a letter of credentials issued to the Mayor.

"5. The Council entirely repudiates the suggestion that any act has taken place in connection with the proceedings toward disincorporation, which can be considered other than honorable and in accordance with the law.

"6. That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Hon. John Oliver, with a request that no further delay be allowed in connection with disincorporation.

"7. That copies of this resolution be sent to the daily papers of Vancouver and Victoria."

Great Dramatic Triumph

Maurice Tourneur presents "The Foolish Matrons"

A social triangle with a new twist is this portrayal amid the bright lights—the fable of the moth and the flame, modernized.

The big cafe scene in Maurice Tourneur's production, "Foolish Matrons," will bring to mind the magnificent gilded palaces where merriment rang to the tune of tinkling glasses, the bizarre cabaret performers delighted diners before prohibition.

DISTANCE THUNDER IS HEARD

The greatest distance of which thunder can be heard is 14 to 18 miles, and 45 seconds is the duration of the longest roll of thunder accurately recorded. Thunder is not generally heard at a greater distance than nine miles. On one occasion the lightning struck the church steeple at Lostwithiel, in Cornwall, England, and destroyed it; but Smeaton, the celebrated engineer, did not hear the sound. Muschenbrock relates that it sometimes thunders loudly at The Hague without any noise being heard at Leyden, 12 miles distant. The noise of artillery at Waterloo was heard at Creil, 115 miles from the scene of the battle, and when the English troops landed in Egypt the firing was distinctly heard 130 miles off. On Dec. 4, 1832, the cannon at Antwerp were heard at Erzegebirge, 30 miles distant.

J. D. HARRINGTON

SPEAKS HERE

Vancouver Socialist Candidate
Addresses Audience

J. D. Harrington was the speaker at the Columbia Theatre last night, in support of W. A. Fritchard for the Nanaimo riding. The speaker is a candidate himself in Vancouver.

Mr. Harrington said that the usual political speech was but gallery play, much noise and evasions of all the real issues of the interest of the common people, and that such problems as were brought up did not stand by themselves, but could only be solved by the solution of international problems, of which they were a part.

Parliament and Trade.

The speaker gave an interesting sketch of the inception and growth of Parliament, showing how constitutional usages grew out of the conflicting interests of the declining feudal order and the newly developing interests of trade. The speech was illustrated with numerous examples of the reflex actions of business and parliament, demonstrating how the character and functions of the latter had been changed and set aside by the tremendous development of the former.

His View of Government.

"Government is but the mouthpiece of business interests," said the speaker. "Its function is to safeguard those interests. The affairs of the common people, i. e. the mental and physical workers, are no concern of Parliament, and the whole of its methods and actions are dominated and dictated by the power of commercial and financial concerns," he declared. "The personnel of government is perfectly immaterial, for since the system itself is absolutely controlled the individual is but a figure, who can talk, if he will, but who is powerless to devise or enact any legislation either in the interests of the producing class or against those of the financial oligarchy," Mr. Harrington said.

Supply and Demand.

Mr. Harrington sketched out the process of capitalist production and exchange, demonstrating how production was not carried on for the use and benefit of the society, but entirely for profit to the owners. "Unless a profit could be had from production industry came to a standstill, and industry came to a standstill when the market was overflowing with goods which could not be sold," he stated. "The working classes worked for wages. But because of the introduction of machinery to industry, the value which the workers produced was far in excess of the value they received in wages. Consequently, the workers could not buy back all the commodities which their labor had produced, and as the working class constituted the great majority of the community, the phenomenon of overproduction took place, the market was glutted with all the necessities of life, the productive process shut down and the working class in the middle of the abundance, their industry had ceased, were starving. That was the cause of unemployment in this and all other countries," he argued. "The solution lay with the producing classes themselves, and only by taking thought and bringing their common efforts and intelligence to the subject would the problem be overcome," he asserted.

To Educate Wage Earners.

Mr. Harrington said the object of the Socialist Party of Canada was to educate the people to a consciousness of their position in modern society, to awake in their dormant intelligence, to instill them with a confidence in themselves in their abilities and superiority as wealth producers, cut themselves loose from the degrading influences which ensue from the machine production, and stand up, free agents in the social production of life's necessities. That was the only issue in this or any election, he argued.

The speaker was heartily applauded by a good audience, and after some questions the meeting closed.

ADVOCATES FOREST

RESEARCH SERVICE

A. E. McMaisters, secretary-treasurer of the Whalen Pulp and Paper Company, was in Victoria Saturday, in connection with the road development work planned by the Government between Quatsino Sound and Hardy Bay. Mr. McMaisters advocated a laboratory for the scientific and chemical testing of B. C. timber. Such a laboratory would be of immense value to the wood industry here, he stated, and the value of the idea might be gained from the work done at the government research bureau in connection with the Forestry Department at Vancouver, but the equipment there was not complete enough for a full commercial test of timber. Such a laboratory could be added to the Forestry Branch of the University of B. C., stated Mr. McMaisters.

SEXLESS PLANTS

Since Darwin said that man developed from the ape, nothing more astonishing in Darwin's science has been observed than a strange feature in certain plants which is being investigated at a laboratory for the scientific and chemical testing of B. C. timber. The most flourishing of plants in the world—the dandelion and hawkweed—have quite "given up" sex.

Their fine flowers, which were developed to attract insects and cause fertilization, are alleged to be wholly useless. The pollen they produce is not wanted, as the plants can produce fertile seed without any sexual relationship at all and without pollen. The plants that make this discovery have established themselves and are increasing in every part of the world; and other plants may follow to keep up equal competition.

An eminent "plant physiologist" who has studied the subject suggests that this development may mean the eventual extinction of light flowers, and in another age color and size of flower may be wholly given up by plants as an unneeded or even exhausting superfluity. In this case how pleased we all ought to be that we live in "the floral age," as this may one day be called.

This unusual development of plants is contrasted by one investigator with the increasing sexuality of animals, indicating that the animal and vegetable kingdoms are growing farther and farther apart.

AMUSEMENT CENTRE SCHEME PROGRESSES

Chamber of Commerce Committee Is Working Hard

The Amusement Centre Committee of the Chamber of Commerce is actively engaged in the work of furthering the plans for Victoria's amusement centre, a resume of the plans of which was published in The Times recently, and which provide for salt water swimming baths, a large convention hall, in-door sports and various other attractions.

The committee in charge of the scheme has just issued the following statement:

The suggestion has been repeatedly made that Victoria should have some central place of attraction and interest where people could go either in the evening or during the day to hear good music, and could see displays of the natural resources of the province, our minerals, our wood, our fruit and flowers, and should have a place where band concerts and various forms of entertainment could be enjoyed by all for a nominal fee. The plan, as outlined, is a comprehensive combination of all the various features in one building. It is a veritable people's palace appealing to the young and old alike and provide the necessary space to accommodate a gathering of any size or kind.

Roofed With Glass.

"The building covers a space of 480 feet square, the proposed plan. It is entirely roofed, with glass and is open from the swimming baths to the roof.

The swimming baths, three in number, form the central feature of the plan, with amphitheatre seats rising on all four sides from the bath level to the promenade, two floors above. They are of ample size to conform to the regulation dimensions for all aquatic sports. The pool is designed to be of sufficient depth for high diving contests, and to allow of provision being made to stage swimming galas of great interest and kind. One of the other baths can be adapted for a children's wading pool, or for beginners and for instruction. The third may be used for ladies, or may be subdivided and the water kept at higher or lower temperatures than that in the other pools.

"Provision is made on this floor for dressing rooms and locker room for both men and women. Space is also available for bowling, alleys and shooting galleries.

Boiler rooms, store rooms and heating apparatus are also located on this level.

Eleven Shops Provided.

"On each side of the main entrance on the ground floor space has been provided for eleven shops. These will each be 15 x 48 feet. They will open directly on to the street and will have display window space at the rear as well as an arcade, which completely circles the inside of the building. On the inner side of this arcade will be booths for display purposes or for exhibits.

"From the arcade stairs, lead down to the baths and up to the promenade floor. On one side of the main floor is a banquet hall, 60 feet x 184 feet, capable of accommodating banquets for conventions, for club and society uncheons, serving as an auditorium for smaller conventions, or being used for balls and similar functions. On one side of this banquet room are service rooms and kitchen, store rooms, etc., on the other, ante-rooms, cloak rooms, etc.

"At the rear is a convention hall, 60 feet by 205 feet, which, besides conventions may be used for exhibition purposes and similar uses, such as exhibits of British Columbia industries, natural resources or products. "At each end of the fourth side is a smaller convention room or special exhibit room, 40 feet by 100 feet, which may be used as a committee room for large conventions, or for reading or rest room. On the outer side of the arcade along this side between these two rooms, is space for glass case exhibits of smaller products, fruit, minerals, etc., and the whole of the arcade is the stage, which faces over the baths. At each side of the stage are band rooms and dressing rooms. The plan is to provide for a moveable floor which can be laid over all or part of the swimming bath, so that the whole open area surrounding the baths may be converted into a huge auditorium, capable of seating approximately 10,000, including the amphitheatre seats.

Room for Largest Conventions.

"This auditorium will provide accommodation for the largest kind of national and international convention. It will also give adequate seating accommodation for large dances, for symphony concerts, band concerts, large operatic productions, and all other public entertainments and gatherings. The floor over the baths will provide ample floor space for large balls, carnivals and other celebratory and spectacular events. Indoor sports of various kinds, such as indoor baseball and tennis, badminton, basketball, etc., may be played on this flooded space. For these purposes, all or part of the baths may be flooded over, depending on the size of the convention.

"At the top and surrounding the upper tier of amphitheatre seats is a promenade 60 feet wide, extending completely around the building. This promenade is enclosed in glass on the outer side, and is open to the glass roof above. From it one may have a complete view of the whole of the amphitheatre, the stage and the swimming pools, or of the ground floor at times when the floor is placed over the baths.

"This promenade will be decorated with shrubs, plants and flowers, and will provide space for dances and luncheon and tea tables. It will be a delightful promenade during band concerts and between dances, or in concert intermissions, and in other spectacular events it will offer an excellent panoramic view of the auditorium. Under normal conditions, when the floor is not in place, one may bask in the sunshine on this promenade floor, under a glass roof, amidst most attractive surroundings, and enjoy the music floating out from the orchestra, watch the bathers in the pools below, and have luncheon or tea.

Elevated Motor Drive.

"It is planned to have an elevated motor driveway at the rear of the building, rising to an entrance on the promenade floor, so that one may enter the building either directly on this floor or by the main entrance on the shop and promenade level. It has been the endeavor in designing the entire building to cater to the needs of the people of Victoria and to follow their expressed desires for varied amusements, entertainment, entertainment and recreation.

Fundamentally the idea of the community centre is to provide what will be virtually a people's palace. The nominal entrance fee which it is proposed to charge is so small as to afford all the regular attractions and pleasures afforded by the institution within the reach of every citizen, and its features are so varied as to meet the desires of all.

The plans are on display at the Chamber of Commerce, and all are very welcome to inspect them at any time.

HE WORRIED ABOUT HIS WIFE'S HEALTH

Regina Woman Grew Thinner and Weaker Every Day; She Gains 25 Pounds

"My wife was losing ground so fast, just growing weaker and thinner every day, that I was almost beside myself with worry about her, but she is in the best of health now, so I want to join with those who have a good word to say about Tanlac," said Albert E. Cole, "Knock Cottage," Lorne Street, Regina, Sask.

"She had a bad form of stomach trouble, and I don't believe anybody ever suffered any more from indigestion and nervousness than she did. "She seemed to get new life and energy from every dose of Tanlac. She has a splendid appetite now, her digestion is perfect, and she gained twenty-five pounds in weight. We are firm believers in Tanlac at our house."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by the Owl Drug Co. and all other druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

SOON OF OLIVER IRRIGATED LANDS

Nearly 300 Men Still on the Job

Force Will Shortly Be Reduced to Winter Level

Nearly 300 men are still at work on the development project on the southern lands, near Oliver, although the forces will shortly be reduced with the coming of Winter weather, says The Penticton Herald.

The exact number on the payroll last Saturday was 233.

They were employed on the following works:—The concrete pipe works which is running night and day, the concrete lining of the main canal below the demonstration farm, the installation of the distribution system and the repairs required by the Spring washout at the end of the siphon as well as on protection work on McIntyre creek so as to prevent any future floods from damaging the system at vulnerable and important points.

The big ditch, according to a statement made by Chief Engineer P. H. Latimer has been concrete lined for a distance 1 1/4 miles south of the intake, thus carrying it below the demonstration farm. This season about 2 1/2 miles of lining was done. This work will probably be closed down during the present week unless word to the contrary comes from Victoria. The end of the concrete lining is now about 11 miles from the international boundary.

Good progress has been made on the installation of the distributing system. North of Oliver it is finished, with the exception of some back-filling. South of Oliver the portion lying under the gravity main is eighty per cent finished down as far south as the demonstration farm. In the pumping area above the main canal the distribution system will be completed by the middle of November.

Most of the distribution system on the lands of concrete pipe made in the works there.

Excavation work in connection with the repairs to the damage done by the Spring washout at the end of the big siphon across the river has been finished and the concrete lining of the ditch will be started this week. Part of the siphon will be rebuilt at a distance of about 80 feet from the original end.

Protection work on McIntyre Creek with a view of diverting Spring freshets is now being carried out.

Concrete Main to Be Finished.

PIONEER RETURNS TO VISIT CITY AFTER MANY YEARS

Robert Ward Now on Visit to Relatives Here

Robert Ward, one of the pioneers of B. C., is now in this city on a visit to his brother, William Curtis Ward, Westover, Shasta Avenue. Mr. Ward was one of the first British Columbian to engage in the salmon packing industry when that development was in its infancy. He was connected as a pioneer with other industries in this province many years ago.

Mr. Ward came to this province in the year 1870 from England, coming to Victoria when this city had only a population of 3,000, on the monthly steamer from San Francisco. Government Street was a collection of shacks then, says Mr. Ward, and the site of the present Empress Hotel was a swamp that afterwards was reclaimed from the waters of the harbor.

Well known in this city, Mr. Ward became president of the old Victoria Board of Trade in the year 1887, continuing in that office until the year 1890. Of late Mr. Ward has been residing in England, both in London and at his country estate at Oak Lawn, Leatherhead.

In Victoria Mr. Ward was known to an earlier generation of business men as a pioneer in the industrial development of this city and island, playing an important part in that development. It is perhaps in the salmon canning business that Mr. Ward is best known, the R. V. Which Company now operating the chain of canneries which was founded by the Robert Ward Company in the early days of the industry upon this coast.

Mr. Ward has many interesting associations to renew in this city, and is being greeted by a large circle of friends, pioneers of former days.
